WASHINGTON, July 10, 1868.

SENATE.

The CHAIR submitted a letter of resigna-on from Senator Johnson.

The bill to protect the rights of American tizens abroad was made the special order r Monday next at one o'clock.

Mr. HARLAN called up the bill to bridge e Mississippi at Rock Island.

An amendment by Mr. MORRILL, of ermont, that the expense shall not exceed ie million dollars, was adopted, and after position by Mr. WILSON, the bill passed 25 against 10.

Mr. CATTELL called up his bill to pro-de for the further issue of temporary an certificates for the redemption of out-anding compound interest notes.

Mr. TRUMBULL offered a substitute, ithorizing and directing the Secretary of e Treasury to sell on the first Monday in ugust ten millions of the surplus coin in e Treasury, and a similar amount each ibsequent month until the amount the Treasury, exclusive of that r which gold certificates are de-sited, shall have been reduced to rty-six millions, the sale to be advertised e days ahead, to be made by sealed pro-sals to be received at the Assistant reasurer's office in New York, accompa-ed by a certificate of deposit in the Treas-y of five per cent. in currency of the nount bid, none but the highest bid to be cepted; payment to be made in currency compound interest notes, with interest crued thereon, said notes to be cancelled; e proceeds of sales to be devoted to the urchase at current market value and ancellation of any interest bearing bonds the United States.

After some remarks by Mr. TRUMBULL support of his proposition, the expiration he morning hour brought up the unfin-hed business of yesterday, viz: Mr. Ed-unds' bill excluding from the Electoral ollege the votes of the States lately in re-ellion which shall not have been reorgan-ed.

Mr. EDMUNDS favored and Mr. DAVIS posed the bill.

Mr. NYE followed in denunciation of the emocratic Convention, whose platform as, he said, a fraud and a lie, and in eu-gy of the Republican party.

Mr. DAVIS reminded the Senator that matter how a rebel hand may be reek-g with the blood of Union soldiers, e Radical party is willing to receive him soon as he professed repentance. He onounced Grant possessed of none of the ualities of a soldier but courage and will, d asserted that but for an accident, and it for an abler man than himself, we ever would have heard of him as a candi-ate for the Presidency.

Mr. MORTON spoke of Gen. Blair's re-nt letter as threatening a rebellion in the iture, claiming that his nomination for e Vice Presidency was made upon that tter, and that his sentiments were en-orsed by the Democratic party and by the atform of that party. He called upon the enators to meet this issue boldly and avely.

After further discussion Mr. CONK-ING'S substitute, offered some days ago, as rejected—nineteen to thirty.

Mr. CONKLING introduced a bill rela-ve to the formation of corporations au-orized by the laws of the United States. eferred to the Judiciary Committee.

Evening Session.—The bill establishing ertain post routes in California, Minnesota d Iowa and other States was passed.

A message from the President was read, nclosing a further account from the Secre-ry of State of the recent transactions in apan. Referred to Committee on Foreign ffairs.

Mr. EDMUNDS' bill relative to the vote electoral college was again taken up.

Mr. DRAKE'S amendment, previously ffered, was rejected.

On motion of Mr. THAYER, the names the States were struck out and the ords inserted, "the States lately in rebel-on and not now represented in Congress," y a vote of 20 to 14.

The bill then passed—twenty-eight to ve—a party vote, except that of Mr. Hen-erson, who voted with the Democrats.

The bill as passed is as follows:

Resolved, &c., That none of the States hose inhabitants were lately in rebellion hall be entitled to be represented in the lectoral College for choice of President nd Vice President of the United States, or shall any electoral votes be received or ounted from any of such States, unless at e time prescribed by law for the choice of ectors the people of such States, pursu-nt to the acts of Congress in that ehalf, shall have, since the 4th day of arch, 1867, adopted a Constitution of tate Government, under which a State overnment shall have been organized nd shall be in operation, and unless such ection of electors shall have been eld under the authority of such Constitu-on and Government, and such State shall ave also become entitled to be represented Congress, pursuant to the acts of Con-ress in that behalf.

On motion of Mr. GARFIELD, the Sen-te amendment to the joint resolution di-ecting the Secretary of War to sell dam-aged or unserviceable arms and ordnance stores was concurred in.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the deficiency bill.

Among the amendments agreed to was one that no contract for public work shall be entered into which shall involve a larger expenditure than the amount appropriated for the purpose.

An amendment for increased compensation to civil employés of the Government in Washington was rejected.

The bill passed. Its provisions have already been stated.

The House went into Committee on the Private Calender.

The bill to place certain Missouri troops on an equal footing with others was passed over without action.

The bill for the relief of certain contractors for the construction of war vessels and steam machinery was considered and ordered reported to the House with a recommendation that it pass.

When the Committee rose, this and two other unimportant bills were passed.

Recess till 7.30, the evening session to be for bills from the Committee on Military Affairs.

Evening Session.—Mr. KETCHUM reported a bill for the appointment of a commission to examine and report upon certain claims of the State of New York for expenditures of enrolling and organizing troops called into service on the 25th of April, 1861, which, after discussion, was recommitted.

Mr. GARFIELD reported a bill giving officers retired from active service in the volunteer service since 19th of April, 1861, the same pay and allowance as if they were retired from wounds or disabilities; also, providing that retired officers, except in time of war, shall not be assigned to duty, except at military academies and certain colleges and universities, as provided in the act of July 16, 1866. It was amended by applying the law to enlisted men as well as officers. The bill was further amended by providing that no man be retired from the army against his will who is competent to perform duty.

Mr. GARFIELD reported a bill to reduce the army to a peace establishment.

The first section, which continues the office of General of the Army, gave rise to a discussion.

Mr. WILSON, of Ohio, moved to strike out the section. Rejected.

Mr. LOGAN moved to amend by providing that the duties of the office shall, in case of vacancy, devolve on officers next in rank. Agreed to.

Mr. JOHNSON moved the office be discontinued. Rejected.

The second section, which refers to Lieut. General, was amended by Mr. LOGAN, similarly to first section.

The third section, which provides there shall be no Lieut. General, was amended by striking out the words "of General or Lieut. General." Subsequently the words "except for meritorious services in the presence of the enemy" were added.

Mr. BUTLER moved to amend the fourth section by reducing the number of Major Generals to three, to be designated by the General of the army without regard to seniority, and providing that all others be mustered out by the first of January next. Agreed to.

On motion of Mr. ALLISON, section five was amended by reducing the number of Brigadiers from eight to five.

Mr. BUTLER then moved to strike out the section and provide there shall be but six Brigadiers, to be designated without regard to seniority by the General of the army, all others to be mustered out by the 1st of January next.

Mr. PAINE moved to amend the amendment by providing that there shall be but six Brigadier Generals after the 31st of March, 1869, the President to designate them after the 10th of March, 1869, and all others to be mustered out of service by the 31st of March, 1869.

Without disposing of the bill, which is to come up as unfinished business to-morrow;

The Senate amendments to the bill in reference to Rock Island bridge were taken up and concurred in.

Mr. BOYER, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill providing for the pay of certain officers of the army who performed services in the rank to which they were promoted, but who were prevented being mustered in on account of their commissions not having been received at the proper time. Agreed to.

KANSAS.

The Osage Indian Treaty—Democratic National Nominations.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LAWRENCE, July 10.—There is a great reaction in this State in favor of a speedy ratification of the Osage Indian treaty, as amended by its friends in Washington. The Leavenworth Board of Trade, the Common Council of the city of Lawrence, and the County Commissioners of Franklin, Anderson and Allen counties have passed strong resolutions in favor of its confirmation. The settlers on the Osage lands are signing a petition in large numbers, asking that the treaty be ratified as amended. The only chief of the Osages who wrote his name to the treaty, says the alleged remonstrance of the chiefs is a bald-faced forgery and fraud, and he affirms the chiefs, warriors and braves of the Osage nation desire the treaty to be ratified so that they can get their pay, being in a destitute condition.

The nomination of Seymour and Blair falls like a wet blanket upon the Democracy of Kansas.

The State Journal, which was supposed to look favorably upon the Chase movement on the basis of free suffrage to every citizen of the republic, black and white, male and female, declares the Democratic party has deliberately committed suicide, preferring death to life, choosing the shroud and the grave, rather than regeneration and new birth.

New York City Matters.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 10.—The journeymen bricklayers met last evening and were presented by the Plasterers' Union with $3,000, by the Coopers' Union, No. 4, with $100, and by the Painters' Union with $500, to aid them to continue their strike. It was announced that the Secretary had an order from various sections of the country for one hundred bricklayers; also that an order for fifteen men was filled yesterday. Three more bosses were reported as having yielded to the demands of the workmen.

During the storm early yesterday morning, the flagstaff on the Times building was shattered and the splinters scattered over the sidewalk.

The case of Scanton and Bell, editors of the Irish Republic, arrested for malicious libel on Gen. O'Neill, came on to-day before Judge Gwinn. Defendants' counsel waived an examination, stating their clients would not have published the statements complained of if they had known they were not true, and that such a correction would be issued to-day as would be satisfactory. The defendants were then ordered to find bail for their appearance before the Grand Jary.

POLITICAL.

Seymour and Blair Formally Notified of Their Nominations for President and Vice President—They Respond.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 10, 1868.

The Committee designated by the National Democratic Convention to present the nominations to candidates, performed the duty assigned them this evening at Tammany Hall, in the presence of a great concourse of spectators.

Gen. Morgan, of Ohio. Chairman of the Committee, in a brief and appropriate address, made a formal tender of the nominations to Gov. Seymour and Gen. Blair.

Gov. Seymour replied as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee: I thank you for the courteous terms in which you have communicated to me the action of the Democratic National Convention. [Cheers.] I have no words adequate to express my gratitude for the good will and kindness which that body has shown to me. Its nomination was unsought and unexpected. It was my ambition to take an active part, from which I am now excluded, in the great struggle going on for the restoration of good government, of peace and prosperity to our country. [Great cheering.] But I have been caught up by the whelming tide that is bearing us on to a great political change, and I find myself unable to resist its pressure. [Loud cheers.] You have also given me a copy of the resolutions put forth by the Convention, showing its position upon all the great questions which now agitate the country. As the presiding officer of that Convention, I am familiar with their scope and import. As one of its members I am a party to their terms. They are in accord with my wish, and I stand upon them in the contest into which we are now entering, and I shall strive to carry them out in future wherever I may be placed in public or private life. [Cheers.] I congratulate you and all Conservative men who seek to restore order, peace, prosperity and good government to our land, upon the evidences everywhere shown that we are to triumph at the next election. [Prolonged Cheers.] Those who are politically opposed to us flattered themselves there would be discord in our councils. They mistook the uncertainties of our views as to the best methods of carrying out our purposes. For difference of opinion with regard to those purposes they mistook our intense anxiety to do no act which should not be wise and judicious for a spirit of discord. But during the lengthened proceedings and earnest discussions of the Convention there has prevailed an entire harmony of intercourse, a patient forbearance, and a self-sacrificing spirit, which are the sure tokens of a coming victory. Accept for yourselves, gentlemen, my wishes for your future welfare and happiness. [Cheers.] In a few days I will answer the communication you have just handed me by letter, as is the customary form. [Tremendous and long continued cheering.]

At the conclusion of Gov. Seymour's speech Gen. Blair made some remarks, accepting the nomination for Vice President, and pledging himself to adhere to the principles enunciated in the platform.

While these proceedings were going on inside of Tammony Hall, an immense gathering collected outside, who seemed animated by the greatest enthusiasm, and on Mr. Seymour's appearance on the platform, which had been erected in the street, greeted him with tremendous cheers. In a few words he thanked the multitude for their expressions of approbation, and excused himself from making a lengthened speech on the ground of fatigue.

S. S. Cox, of New York, was the next speaker. He eulogized Horatio Seymour and the Democratic party, which was the party of good will, progress and liberty.

Loud calls were made for Gen. Blair, who thanked the meeting for the enthusiasm with which they had greeted him. He entertained no doubt the Democratic party would triumph in the impending conflict, and would restore to the Southern people the freedom of which they had been despoiled.

The meeting was subsequently addressed by A. J. Rogers, of New Jersey, General Thomas L. Price, of Missouri, Gen. William Preston, of Kentucky, and others, and finally adjourned with three times three for Seymour and Blair.

The Democratic National Committee have been tendered quarters free of charge for the campaign by the Lelands, at the Metropolitan Hotel, in this city. A similar courtesy has been extended to the Republican Committee, at the Union Hotel, Saratoga.

SOUTHERN STATES.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, July 10.—Mr. Kellogg, Senator for the long term, is from Illinois. Harris, for the short term, is last from Wisconsin.

The Senate yesterday passed the House resolution ratifying the fourteenth amendment and immediately afterwards finally passed the Metropolitan police bill.

This morning's papers announce the names of the Police Commissioners already appointed.

Four of the supposed fillibusters arrested at Fort Livingston last week were bonded to answer at the next term of the United States Court, and the balance were discharged by Commissioner Wells.

GEORGIA.

AUGUSTA, July 10.—Gov. Bullock. in a message to the Legislature urges the purging of both houses, in which he is sustained by Gen. Meade, who has sent a communication to the Legislature to the same effect.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 10.—The Senate and House received a communication from Governor Bullock, informing them that by orders from Gen. Meade they will not be recognized as a loyal body until they have expelled members who are ineligible under the Omnibus bill. He suggested a Committee be appointed by both Houses to purge themselves of such members.

In reply to the Governor's letter, notifying General Meade of the organization of the two Houses, Gen. Meade says: "I beg leave to state I have no instructions to give you further than to make known that in my judgment neither House is organized legally until it has complied with the requisition of the reconstruction acts, and the act which became a law on June 25th, 1868, all of which prohibit any one holding an office under the State who is excluded by section third of the amendment to the Constitution, known as article fourteenth. It is not my intention to dictate to the two Houses, however, when they will they apply these tests to the several members. In view of the fact that the Legislature, until the State is admitted by compliance with the requirements of the acts of Congress, is only provisional, and subject to the authority of the District Commander, it is my duty, so long as military government exists, to see the law faithfully executed.

Mr. O'Neill offered a resolution in the House that a Committee be appointed to investigate the eligibility of members. After a long discussion it was adopted in the Senate, and a Committee appointed to send for persons and papers.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, July 10.—Ex-Governor Orr has published an address to the people of the State reviewing his administration, presenting the reasons which influenced his public conduct and advising a future policy. He says it would have been wise for the white people to have accepted the reconstruction acts, and that if the new Constitution is obnoxious, it is the fault of the intelligent white men, who took no part in the Convention elections. He again avows himself in favor of qualified colored suffrage. He says it is idle to expect any relief to universal suffrage from the Democratic party. If the Southern governments, in 1871, are declared void, the States will be left in a condition of anarchy. If the Supreme Court declares them unconstitutional, he asks what constitutions will be in force and what officers reinstated. He says we should depend on ourselves only, and speaks of the harmony that existed between himself and the district commanders. In conclusion he says the principles and purposes avowed by his successor, Governor Scott, with reference to the interests of the State, are wise and patriotic, and he invites the people to give his administration a full and fair trial before its condemnation.

COLUMBIA, July 10.—In the Legislature to-day the House was engaged in completing its organization. In the Senate a petition to Congress for the removal of disabilities was tabled.

TEXAS.

A dispatch from Austin, Texas, says: In the Convention the question of the division of the State has been indefinitely postponed.

The subject of the cession of El Paso to the United States will be discussed on Saturday.

Mr. Varnell introduced a resolution requiring a residence of five years as a necessary qualification for election to the Legislature, and seven years for Congress.

ST. LOUIS.

Arrest and Indictment of Captain Samuel Barr, Clerk of the Great Republic, for Murder.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Captain Samuel Barr, Jr., clerk of the steamer Great Republic, was arrested to-day, by order of Captain Lee, Chief of Police. on information deemed so entirely reliable that the Grand Jury found a true bill against him for murder in the first degree in connection with the shooting of Henry Anderson, colored man, on board the Great Republic some days ago. It is also said the Grand Jury found a bill against Capt. Donaldson.

The Coal Miners' Strike.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

POTTSVILLE, PA., July 10.—The strike among the miners in this vicinity is assuming a threatening attitude. Severals mills about Tamaqua have been compelled to suspend by visits from the miners, who force the workmen to stop. Laboring men on the railroads have also been driven off. The St. Clair Iron Works have been visited, but the proprietors refused to accede to the demands of the strikers, and as a company has been enrolled to preserve order, it is feared there will be bloodshed.

Explosion at Reno, Pa.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RENO, PA., July 10.—At ten o'clock this morning the building used by the Reed Torpedo Company for the filling of torpedoes and the storage of powder, was blown up. F. Munson, who was at work in the building, was blown through the air for some five hundred feet, and came down a shapeless body. The windows in the houses for a quarter of a mile were broken. Loss, [illegible]

THE CAPITAL.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 10, 1868.

NOMINATIONS BY THE PRESIDENT.

The President to-day nominated to the Senate James Shelly to be Agent for the Flat Head Indians, and Henry D. Bancock to be Agent for the Indians of Grand Bonde Agency, Oregon.

BECOME A LAW.

The bill to continue the Freedmen's Bureau has become a law without the President's signature, the constitutional limit of ten days having expired.

WASHINGTON TOPICS AND GOSSIP.

The Louisiana Senators, Kellogg and Harris, both Radicals, will be here on Monday, and will be sworn in at once.

The new tax bill will become a law on Monday or Tuesday, much in the form in which it came from the House, with the exception that the bond tax is stricken out.

Most of the members of Congress desire an adjournment next Thursday, but it is probable that a recess will not be taken before the end of the following week.

Mr. Moorhead's Tariff bill may pass the House, but it will fail in the Senate for this session.

The bill for the protection of naturalized citizens abroad was made the special order by the Senate for Monday.

It is now definitely settled that Mrs. Lincoln and her son "Taddie," with servant, will sail in the Bremen steamer Baltimore, from that port, on the 1st of August, in company with Hon. Reverdy Johnson.

The rumor that General Rosecrans will be nominated as Minister to Mexico has not been realized. The present Charge d'Affaires, Mr. Plumb, is a very good officer, and in high favor with Juarez.

The sneers upon the President by the Democratic papers are bitterly resented at the White House.

Said a brave General officer of the Union army this morning, "I thought we had dissolved and destroyed the Congress of the Confederacy, but I see it has been holding a regular session at New York."

The fact that all Mr. Seward's intimate friends, including his relations, are declaring for Grant, is very significant.

It is believed that the Democratic nominations will not hasten the adjournment. The Republicans feel resolved and happy over the foolish platform of the Democrats.

The Democratic Nominations.

The Cincinnati Commercial says Mr. Seymour is not a liberal and progressive Democrat. He stands by the traditions of the party; he shares its prejudices; he harmonizes with every effort to continue a social caste, created by slavery; and appeals to the antipathies of race solely for political ends. His party records will prevent the Republicans of the East from going over to the Democracy. His sympathy with the bondholders will seriously affect his prospects in the West, and he will no where be able to poll more than a strictly party vote. He is a weak man for the Presidency, and ought easily to be beaten.

The New York Herald says: The Democratic party has decided that the next President shall be Grant. Seymour against Grant amounts to a Democratic surrender or a disbanding of the Democratic party.

The New York Times says the Democratic ticket will not bring out a full vote, will disgust the non-partisan element, and nothing but a series of miracles can save the party from defeat.

A Philadelphia dispatch says: There is unmistakable dissatisfaction among the Democrats here with the Presidential ticket. Mr. Seymour is undoubtedly the ablest man in the party, and popular in the Eastern and Middle States, but he cannot do well out West. Mr. Blair is only known as one of the family who must always be in office, and will be a dead weight in this region. This is about the substance of the articles in our newspapers here. Mr. Seymour is well enough if the platform suited him, but Blair has no great popularity anywhere. There is considerable grumbling because either Pendleton, Hancock or Hendricks was not given the second place on the ticket. The Chase men are the butts of political gatherings, and a pamphlet on the Chief Justice is out to-day, called, "The Man Without a Party."

A Baltimore dispatch says: The New York nominations created but little enthusiasm among the Democracy here, who were ardently divided between Pendleton and Chase. There was no shouting and no cannons fired. The Conservative newspapers touch the ticket daintily, and give the candidates a cold reception. General Blair is particularly objected to in the State where the family homestead is.

The New York Tribune, recounting the former course of Seymour, says: If this man can be chosen President over Grant, then the patriotic blood shed in the war was shed in vain.

The New York Sun says: Mr. Seymour is an eminent exponent of the Democratic party. Mr. Blair, however, will not add to the success of the ticket.

A Washington special says: Gen. Hancock and Mr. Hendricks are pleased with the ticket, but Mr. Chase and President Johnson dislike it very much. It is not unlikely that the unlucky but ambitious Chief Justice will endeavor to form a new party in order to get a nomination from somebody. In this Mr. Johnson encourages him. The ticket displeases the Democrats here generally. They are not so sure of Blair adding strength to the ticket. At Grant's headquarters the ticket causes some delight, as the soldiers think it will be easily defeated in November.

THE people of Pesth are in ecstacies over a little domestic scene which the Emperor and Empress of Austria played the other day in the presence of a great many Hungarian ladies and gentlemen. The Emperor was promenading in the park, when suddenly the Empress, holding her baby in her arms, came to meet him. "Liset," (Lizzie.) he said to her, "are you here with your little Hungarian girl?" and then his majesty took the baby from the happy smiling Empress, gave the latter his arm, and walked back with her to the palace, chatting as gayly as if the future of Austria and of the Hapsburgs were as cloudless as the Italian sky.

Tobacco.

In the Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal for June, Dr. Hoffman contributes an article in which he propounds the theory that the use of tobacco is conducive to baldness and gray hairs. He says:

A gentleman under forty years of age, and a patient of mine, who had been in the habit of using tobacco to excess for many years, and who had been for the last five or six years both bald-headed and gray-haired, found it necessary a few months ago to quit the use of tobacco entirely. It was, of course, a hard struggle at first, for it makes no difference how firm a man may be, if he once becomes a slave to tobacco, whisky, or opium, it is hard, very hard work for him to recover his liberty, to be able to say, "I have conquered;" and very few succeed in doing it. However, he finally did it, and since that time he has become a changed man in more than one respect.

In the first place, he has entirely recovered his health, which was bad while he used tobacco; he also has recovered entirely from his baldness, and his "gray locks" have been replaced by an unusually luxuriant growth of natural hair, of as fine a black hue as one could wish to see; he has also lost that sallow, beeswax hue of skin and sickly paleness of color which slaves to the weed so generally have. All of this might be expected as a very natural result, except the growth of hair and its change of color, which, in this case at least, has occurred as one of the results of leaving off a noxious habit.

The question now occurs, is this the cause of the prevalence of bald heads and gray hairs on so many men under forty years of age in California? Let us inquire. Tobacco is a sedative narcotic. When used to excess it produces numerous untoward symptoms, among which are debility of the nervous and circulating functions.

On these depend the growth of all animal organisms. If these functions are impaired, so is the growth of the body and all belonging to it. The hair is only a modification of the epidermis, and consists essentially of the same structure as that membrane. It has a root, shaft and point, and like all the other organs of the body requires for a natural, healthy and vigorous growth, a h healthy state of the nervous and circulating systems. If tobacco impedes the circulation, and prevents the free and natural supply of healthy nourishment reaching its destination, which it evidently does, it is a cause which results in disease and death of the hair. The yellow and waxy state of the skin always found in those who use tobacco to excess is easily accounted for in the same way. The debility which it causes in the nervous and circulating functions prevents the organs from being duly nourished thereby causing their disease and death.

Harper's Weekly for the 11th inst. is out in a series of cuts that in short space contain the meaning of the whole political discussion. In one of these, Chase is a medical man, is in attendance upon a "sickly Democrat," evidently of the old school, whose feet are in a tub of exceedingly hot water, and whose bandaged head and scarred wrinkled visage show the hardest usage. To him the medical man presents a draught from a bottle labelled "Popular Sovereignty," and in the glass the inevitable colored person is seen dancing vigorously. 'Oh, must I swallow him whole, Dr. Chase?" is the agonized inquiry. It is evident that a change of physicians and of prescription must follow. In the same paper is one of Nast's best full page cartoons, a wedding scene in Tammany, with Rector Chase in full canonicals. Underneath is the ancient Democratic war-cry "Would you marry your daughter to a nigger?" And here indeed we have it. The fair bride in white is labelled "Democracy." Her features are Hibernian. Behind her are Seymour, Brooks, Pendleton, et al. The bridegroom is so black that charcoal would make a white mark upon him. He is evidently unhappy at being forced into the banns by old Bennett, Manton Marble and Montgomery Blair, his groomsmen, whose only success in this stolen wedding is due to some former confidence of the groom in the officiating priest. Rev. Dr. Chase (to the bride)—"Do you promise to love honor and obey?" The bride—"Don't I?" It is evident that the match is a very ill-assorted one, the officiating parties, all of them, wearing the anxious hang-dog look of those who expect somebody to appear and forbid the banns. The wedding will never come off.

A Phenomena.

A citizen of Robertson county, Tennessee, reports a strange and unnatural movement among the small game in that vicinity. For some days past his plantation has been literally overrun with myriads of rabbits in groups and gangs, coming from the North and leisurely passing to the Southwest. During the day they travel but little, generally lying close, nibbling the herbage in the shade until disturbed, when they break cover like swarms of flies. At night, however, the earth is literally covered with them, marching, countermarching, dancing and romping in the starlight, their movements seemingly directed by certain gray-whiskered patriarchs. The gentleman has been compelled, in self-defense, to inaugurate, with dogs, clubs and fire-arms, a war of extermination, but although he has killed hundreds, there seems to be no diminution in the number of these little "cotton-tailed" erratics. He thinks they are feasting upon the locusts, as they are following the general direction of this seventeen-year pest.—Charleston (S. C.) Mercury.

A WASHINGTON dispatch of the 9th says: The announcement of Seymour's nomination was received here by the Democrats with chagrin. I have heard three Democratic members of the House say that he cannot be elected.

FEDALMA.

Maiden, crowned with glossy blackness,
Lithe as panther forest-roaming,
Long-armed naiad, when she dances,
On a stream of ether floating—
Bright, O bright Fedalma!

From all curves like softness drifted,
Wave-kissed marble roundly dimpling,
Far-off music slowly winged,
Gently rising, gently sinking—
Bright, O bright Fedalma!

Pure as rain-tear on a rose-leaf,
Cloud high-born in noonday spotless,
Sudden perfect as the dew bead,
Gem of earth and sky begotten—
Bright, O bright Fedalma!

Beauty has no mortal father,
Holy light her form engendered
Out of tremor, yearning, gladness,
Pressage sweet and joy remembered—
Child of Light, Fedalma!

—A Mrs. Zollinger, of Mansfield, Ohio, is in jail for putting too much arsenic in biscuit baked for her daughter-in-law. The latter and her brother ate the buscuit and were pretty nearly killed with the dose.

—Miss Franklin, a young lady of Bradford, Pa., was in a wagon, when the horses ran away. She jumped out, but her crinoline caught on the step of the vehicle, and she was dragged, with head and body on the ground, a distance of nearly a mile. She was terribly bruised, and died almost instantly after being rescued from the horrible position.

—Zanesville was visited by a terrible storm on Wednesday, the most severe that has ever swept over that part of Ohio. During its continuance some laborers took shelter under a shed which was erected beneath the shade of a large sugar tree. The storm snapped the tree off near its roots and it fell on the shed killing two of the men and wounding the others more or less. Barns were struck by lightning and many buildings were blown down in the wicked storm.

THE declaration of Marshal Niel that last year the French army was not a match for the Prussian, but that now it is, is undoubtedly apt to be understood in a warlike sense. It should, however, be remembered that in France official and semi-official declarations are as often intended to mislead as to enlighten political opinion.

Marriage or Celibacy.

"Isabella T." writes as follows to the London Public Opinion:

When a girl marries, she ought, to a certain extent, to give up her acquaintances, and consider the company of her husband the best company she can have. The young wife must learn cooking carefully. There are many excellent cookery books, but she must not follow them implicitly. My own plan, for some time after I was married, was to take some dish and prepare it once according to the receipt given, and note carefully what ingredients could be dispensed with. The second time I generally managed it at half the expense. A useful plan is to keep a blank book in the kitchen drawer, and whenever a deviation from the orthodox cookery book is made, to jot it down. Do not wait till you have washed your hands; let the book be finger-marked rather than lose an idea.

You will have thus learned much more of household economy than if you trust to memory alone, and when your daughters grow up, what a fund of practical information it will be for them. To a great extent the celibacy of our young men is owing to way in which girls are brought up. Through mistaken kindness, mothers often do themselves, what they ought to make their daughters do. Let them teach them housekeeping on a fixed methodical plan, and then they will learn their history, French and music all the better. It is natural and right that a mother should wish to see her daughters well educated, and even highly accomplished, and it is a mistake that a good and careful education would unfit a girl for the homely duties of cooking, dusting, &c. On the contrary, these duties would be better performed, and if mothers would, at the same time that they seek talented instructions for their daughters, impart to them some of their own culinary talent there would be more good wives and more marriages. Little girls should be taught, as early as possible, to perform simple household duties neatly, and, as they grow older, let them become gradually acquainted with the whole theory of housekeeping in such a manner that, when married, they will be able to adapt themselves to their circumstances, and be useful as well as pleasing companions to their husbands. Let none of my unmarried sisters suppose that I wish them, when they marry, to become mere household slaves. Most young men, when they marry, have fair prospects of advancement, and, should they be steady, they may in time be able to keep not one servant only, but several, and their wives' knowledge of housekeeping prove no less useful to them than it was when they had no servant at all.

Do Not Play With Babies.

Especially with those whose mothers are "nervous creatures," and whose fathers are wide-awake, go-aheadative, steam engineish men.

Young America has too many nerves already, and too high strung at that; too ready to vibrate at a touch. Do not play upon them. Let them be quiet.

For the first three or four months of his mortal life let him be handled and cared for, as far as practicable, by one quiet person, and after that let him not be caught up and tossed up and tickled and cackled at by every one who comes along. Keep him quiet. If grandma, or aunty, or "bubby" want to enjoy the baby, let him approach him carefully, reverently, snug him up gently, talk to him soothingly and sensibly, and have a good time with him without setting him all on springs and making a fool of him.

After he is able to talk do not say smart things to him and teach him to make pert replies, and when old enough to be sensitive to remarks, do not say of him, in his presence, as though he had no sensibility, "What a little man!" "He looks like his mother." "How he has grown tall!" Leave him to his simplicity and unconsciousness. He will wake up out of them soon enough without.

If the family to which he belongs is busy and bustling, keep him out of the way of it as much as possible. Lead him in the "green pastures" and by the "still waters." Ten chances to one, the sensitive, nervous system in him greatly predominates over the organic. His head—his front head particularly—is too large, his stomach too small, his fingers too sharp. Study to change this condition, and work away at him till the predominance is the other way, or until there is developed in him a greater capacity for living a long life than dying an early death. To this end let him be fed regularly, and at physiological intervals, with plenty of simple, nutritious food, avoiding all stimulants—even flesh meats in his earlier growing years—in both food and drinks. Get him to sleep in the day time and to bed early nights, and let him sleep as long as he will. In short, let him live a good deal as the little pigs and calves do. Do not put fine clothes on him. Let him touch the ground, play on the lap of earth, and keep away from him intellectual and social encitements. (These remarks apply to girls as well as to boys.)

If you do not look out, Old America will become so smart and keen and quick that it will "flash in the pan," or so attenuated that it will vanish into thin air, and there will be nothing left of it.—Rochester, N. Y., Express.

Scene in a Court House.

In the good old times in Kentucky, when "substantial justice" was administered in a log cabin, after a free and easy manner, a suit was brought for the recovery of certain money which it was alleged the plaintiff had been defrauded out of by the ingenious operation known as "thimble-rigging." In the course of the trial the plaintiff's counsel, who happened to be an "expert," undertook to enlighten the Court as to the modus operandi of the performance. Putting himself into position, he produced the three cups and "the little joker," and proceeded, suiting the action to the word:

"Then may it please the Court, the defendant, placing the cups on his knees thus, began to shift them so, offering to bet my client could not tell under which cup was "the little joker," meaning, thereby, may it please the Court, this ball, with the intention of defrauding my client of the sum thus wagered. For instance, when I raise the cup so, your Honor supposes that you see the ball."

"Suppose I see?" interrupted the judge, who had closely watched the performance, and was sure that he detected the ball as one of the cups was accidentally raised. "Why, any fool can see where it is, and bet on it, and be sure to win, There ain't no defraudin' thar."

"Perhaps your honor would like to go a V on it," insinuated the counsel.

"Go a V? Yes, and double it, too; and here's the rhino. It's under the middle cup."

"I go a V on that," said the foreman of the jury.

"And I, and I, and I," joined in the jurors," one after the other, until each one had invested his pile.

"Up!" said his honor.

"Up" it was; but "the little joker" had mysteriously disappeared. Judge and jury were enlightened, and found no difficulty in bringing in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, on the ground that it was the "derndest kind o' defraudin."

500 ACRES OF WHITE PINE AND HEMLOCK TIMBER LAND, situated on Black Lick Creek, Buffington township, Indiana county, Pa., 9 miles from Ninevah Station, on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, and about 60 acres of cleared land, under good fencing. On the premises are erected one Grist Mill, with 2 run of burrs and 2 run of stones, all complete and in good running order. One Saw Mill, in complete order, cutting 3,000 feet per day.

One dwelling house, two stories high, with 12 rooms, 40x42 feet.
One dwelling, 28x40 feet, 8 rooms.
One " 18x26 " 2 "
One " 18x26 " 4 "
One " 18x26 " 2 "
One " 24x26 " 5 "

One Stable, 20x24 feet, 16 feet high; Blacksmith Shop and other outbuildings. This land is underlaid with stone coal and iron ore, and it has plenty of never-failing springs of water, besides the creek running through the entire premises, and will be sold cheap and on easy terms, to a good man with a little money.

10 LOTS ON BEDFORD AVENUE, each lot 20 by 100 feet, on which is erected four two-story frame dwelling houses, of 6 rooms and hall each. These lots embrace a full square of ground, fronting 200 feet on Bedford avenue, and bounded on each end by a wide street, with an 18 feet alley in the rear. On the premises is a pump of lasting and excellent water, and the surface of the lots is level and needs neither filling nor grading to prepare them for building purposes, and being in a section of the city where property is increasing very rapidly in value, make them desirable for an investment, especially as the present houses rent for enough to pay a good interest on the sum asked for the whole property. Call soon on the undersigned and secure a cheap, safe and paying investment.

Also, A FARM OF 160 ACRES of good land, situated in East Wheatfield township, Indiana Co., Pa., 90 acres of which is cleared land, in good cultivation, 20 acres being in excellent meadow. The improvements are a two-story frame dwelling house of 4 rooms, a frame bank barn, 36x60 feet, with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings, all in good repair. It is in a good neighborhood, convenient to schools, churches, stores, &c., and will be sold very low for cash or approved securities.

Also, a RIVER BOTTOM FARM of 76 acres, 19 miles from the city, in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, one-half mile from Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville railroad; near churches, schools, stores, &c., in the flourishing villages of Boston and Green Oak. The improvements are a two-story brick house of six rooms, hall and cellar, a good frame bank barn with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings; a well of good standing water at the door, and several standing springs of water on the farm, and an orchard of 700 trees of selected fruits of apples, cherries, pears, peaches, quinces and grapes. This property being located near the line of the railroad, within one hour's ride of the city, makes it very desirable for gardening or a dairy farm; it is also a good and beautiful location for country homes near the city, lying immediately on the river, on the opposite side from the railroad. The West Newton Accommodation and other trains on the railroad afford certain and frequent opportunities of daily communication to and from the city. Will be sold as a whole or in lots of one acre or more, to suit purchasers

Also, A FARM OF 173 ACRES, situated in St. Clair township, Westmoreland county, Pa., near the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Houston Station. The improvements are a two-story frame house, with six rooms and good cellar, a frame bank barn 40 by 60 feet, and other outbuildings. There is on the place a young apple and peach orchard; 120 acres cleared land, divided into fields of convenient size, a large portion of which are well set in clover and timothy; the residue of said tract covered with good timber. It is well watered and underlaid with coal and limestone, and is convenient to churches, schools, stores, mills and blacksmith shops. A real good bargain is offered in this excellent farm; and with it will be sold all the personal property on the premises, consisting of horses, cows, stock cattle, hogs and poultry, harness, gears, wagon, plows, farming implements and household and kitchen furniture. Together will be sold very low and on easy terms, to a responsible purchaser.

Also, a desirable and very fertile Tract of Land of 158 ACRES AND 25 PERCHES, in Elizabeth Tp., Allegheny county, Pa., on the line of the Hempfield railroad, and one and one-half miles from the Connelisville railroad at Suter's Station. On this farm are 40 acres of superior white oak timber, which alone is now worth one-half the price asked for the whole tract. The improvements are a log house, frame barn, good fencing, and an apple orchard of good fruit. It is well watered and underlaid with limestone and flag stone of a superior quality, with stone coal for the use of the farm.

Also, The best FARM in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., of 250 ACRES, about six miles south of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad at Bolivar Station. The improvements are two large hewed log dwellings; one of the largest and best frame barns in the township; two apple orchards, in good bearing condition; corn crib, wagon-shed and other outbuildings. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; fencing all in first rate order, and the land of the best quality of limestone soil, about 200 acres of which is cleared and the residue of the tract in good timber, such as white oak, rock oak, hickory, walnut and beech. This property will be sold very cheap and on good terms, as the owner wishes to engage in other business. For particulars enquire of

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede slowly at this point with only twenty-two inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks. The weather yesterday was sultry and cloudy with strong indications at times of rain.

The steamer Ida Reese left Fort Benton Saturday, June 20, at ten o'clock a. m. Steamers Importer, Guidon, Andrew Ackley, Fannie Barker and North Alabama, in port. She arrived at St. Louis on Monday evening, having been fourteen days out from Benton.

The Charmer arrived at St. Louis on Tuesday last.

—The Henry M. Shreve, which left St. Louis June 20th, for Fort Stevenson, having two hundred and fifty tuns Government freight, and two hundred tuns way freight, arrived at Sioux City on the 1st inst., eleven days and nineteen hours out from St. Louis.

—A gentleman residing on the Hudson river is endeavoring to bring out a light river boat on a new principle connected with displacement of water and resistance. The inventor claims not only that she will be useful for carrying mails and a few passengers, but of unparalleled speed.

—A very important legal question was argued at St. Joseph, Missouri, on the 3d, in the Court of Common Pleas, involving the right of steamboatmen to sue and collect their wages in State courts. It is contended by the negative that the United States courts have the exclusive jurisdiction in such cases. Judge Montague reserved his decision.

—The Parkersburg papers say that it is the intention of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company to put 150 men to work immediately, to construct a bridge across the Ohio river at that point. As soon as the water gets low enough the river piers will be commenced, and the whole work will be pushed rapidly toward. It is supposed that it will be completed in eighteen months.

- The St. Louis Democrat, of Thursday, says: The Importer arrived from Benton on Tuesday night. She made the quickest trip down and the quickest round trip of the season.........It is asserted that Captain Hiram K. Hazlett was successful in securing yesterday, the Government contract for the transportation of 220 tons freight to Forts Rice and Stevenson. Captain Hazlett secured quite a number of similar contracts this season.

—We clip the following items from the Cincinnati Gazette, of Thursday: The America arrived from Pittsburgh with the freight of the Leonidas aboard. The latter boat will not get off Beaver Shoals until there is a rise in the river. The America had 160 tuns of freight, 70 tuns of which were for Cincinnati. The Leonidas had reshipped about 70 tuns on her. She takes a barge of the Charleston, containing 200 tuns railroad iron. She also has one of J. Rhodes' barges for lightening.........Captain Muhleman, of the Potomac, is trying to charter a boat for the Parkersburg and Wheeling trade. He represents parties at Wheeling, and has under consideration Capt. Poe's America, and Capt. Laughrey's Belle. The Lorena has her sign out for New Orleans. Having just come off the docks, she is in splendid order. She will be commanded by Capt. J. M. Chenoweth, and Capt. Sam. Shuman will have charge of the office. These gentlemen are both popular, as well as competent.........The Delaware is still here awaiting low water. Parties have been endeavoring to charter her, but we understand that other parties want to buy.........The Lady Grace arrived from St. Louis yesterday. The following boats are at the wharf this morning: New York, Maggie Hays, Nightingale, Delaware, Silver Spray, America, Lawrence, Lorena, Sam. J. Hale, Potomac, Lady Grace, Golden Era, Cheyenne, Mary Erwin, Bostona, Mary Ament, United States, Major Anderson, C. T. Dumont.

River and Weather.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, July 10.—River about stationary, with four feet of water in the canal by mark. Weather clear and moderately warm.

DOLLAR SAVINGS BANK,

No. 65 Fourth Street.

CHARTERED IN 1855.

ASSETS ........................ $2,161,720 19.

Open daily from 9 to 2 o'clock; also on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY EVENINGS, from May 1st to November 1st, from 7 to 9 o'clock, and from November 1st to May 1st, from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Deposits received of all sums of not less than ONE DOLLAR, and a dividend of the profits declared twice a year, in June and December. Interest has been declared semi-annually in June and December since the Bank was organized, at the rate of six per cent. a year.

Interest, if not drawn out, is placed to the credit of the depositor as principal, and bears the same interest from the 1st days of June and December, compounding twice a year without troubling the depositor to call, or even to present his pass book. At this rate money will double in less than twelve years.

Books containing the Charter, By-Laws, Rules and Regulations, furnished gratis, on application at the office.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, facteries, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desised. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 140⅞.

THE DEMOCRATIC platform professes to be in favor of "preserving the public faith inviolate," yet proposes to repudiate the public debt!

THEY say that Mr. CHASE don't like the ticket. If so, that facile politician is in a tight place, having already approved of the platform, and pledged himself in advance to support the nominees.

THE Democracy everywhere are on the anxious seat. They find that SEYMOUR'S Copperheadism is bad enough, but BLAIR'S Jacobin and revolutionary violence threatens them with absolute ruin.

THE HON. SAMUEL LINN has resigned the office of President Judge of the Twenty-Fifth Judicial District. It is understood he will participate actively in the current canvass for GRANT and COLFAX.

THERE is some danger that the Democrats will withdraw BLAIR from their ticket. SEYMOUR is a nauseating dose for honest and patriotic men, but the other man is more than American freemen can stomach.

WE SPEAK advisedly in saying there is not a particle of truth in the report, floating through the newspapers, that either Mr. J. D. CAMERON or Mr. WAYNE MCVEIGH are aspiring to the seat in the United States Senate, soon to be vacated by Mr. BUCKALEW.

THE Post indulged, yesterday, on an extensive scale, in the luxury of poultry. The repast was prepared for PENDLETON, but was, unwillingly, used for SEYMOUR. This entertaining unwelcome guests, is disagreeable, but cannot be helped, in politics, any more than elsewhere.

UP, BOYS, AND AT THEM! Now is the time to go to work, friends. The issue is joined; the battle is drawing on. Close up the ranks, and get ready for the conflict. GRANT is at the head, and will unfailingly lead us on to victory; but victory requires work, and now is the time to begin.

THE triumphant progress of reconstruction under Republican auspices warrants Congress in an immediate reduction of the army. A bill cutting it down to twenty regiments, or about one-half, has accordingly been prepared, and is likely to become a law before the session closes.

SEYMOUR says if there had been no war there would have been no public debt. True; and there would have been no Union, also. In SEYMOUR'S eyes it were better that the South had been permitted to dissolve the Union, than that there should have been a public debt incurred for its preservation.

THEY say that the slippery Chief Justice talks of a third party. Of course, he could repudiate his pledges to the Democratic Convention as easily as he has falsified his Republican reputation. The rule by which to judge that politician, is, not what he has agreed to, but what may be for his present and future interest.

ORGANIZE!—In this one word lies the secret of Republican success. In the cities and boroughs do we especially need organization. Grant Clubs must be formed in every ward and borough at once. We have been waiting, hitherto, for the enemy to move; and now that he has moved, duty requires that we be ready to meet him! Organize! Organize!!

THE next thing in order is the third party movement which CHASE and JOHNSON—Arcades ambo—will proceed to inaugurate. These gentlemen have been doubly tried and found wanting, first in the Impeachment proceedings and then by the Democracy at New York. If they make another trial with the people, they will find that it is "three times and out."

AT A recent meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic, held at Pottsville, our distinguished candidate for Congress, Major General JAS S. NEGLEY, was present and delivered a brilliant speech, which excited the greatest enthusiasm. He spoke in glowing terms of the candidates put forward and the broad and liberal platform of principles enunciated at Chicago. As a pleasing and finished orator, the gallant General has few superiors, and we certainly know none who have earned a better right to talk on the important issues of the hour.

THE recent conventions of the Republicans of of New York and Maine were fully attended, and the most enthusiastic spirit prevailed. At Syracuse, Hon, JOHN A. GRISWOLD, of Troy, was nominated for Governor, Hon. A. B. CORNELL, of Utica, for Lt. Governor, with other State officers and a [illegible] of Presidential and District Electors. Mr. HORACE GREELEY was a candidate for the first nomination, and received nearly one hundred votes in the Convention. The nominee, Mr. GRISWOLD, an iron-master, has been a Representative in Congress for six years. Entering upon public life in 1853 as a war Democrat, although elected over a Republican competitor, he has steadily since fought it out on that line. In '64, he supported LINCOLN, and has continued to find, in and with the Republican organization, the only hope for the restoration of peace and prosperity to a once more united country. There is the strongest confidence in his election next November.

GOV. CHAMBERLAIN, of Maine, was unanimously re-nominated. Electors were appointed, at Portland, on the same day, after which Hon. JOHN A. BINGHAM addressed the Convention in a rousing speech.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The morning after this document was promulgated we made such comments upon its general tone and spirit as seemed to be just and fitting, reserving to a more convenient opportunity the consideration of specific exceptions, which were artfully interjected for the purpose of alluring the conservatives from the Republican ranks. These interjected passages, it is needful to remark, are not trivial, but are so weighty that, pressed to their logical results, would place the Democratic party in an attitude rendering it difficult to determine whether it most inspires pity or contempt. Let them be examined in their order.

1. Slavery and Secession. The platform opens by "recognizing the questions of Slavery and Secession as having been settled for all time to come by the war, or the voluntary action of the Southern States in constitutional conventions assembled, and never to be renewed or re-agitated."

For many years a bitter controversy raged throughout this country in respect to Slavery and the right of each State to secede from the Union, the Democrats espousing the side of Slavery and Secession, and the Republicans taking the opposite position. Nor did these two questions stand disconnected from all others. They were interlocked with many others, important in themselves, but subordinated to these and necessarily abridging their fate. These questions constituted the real pith and marrow of all the agitations of the last thirty years.

The Democrats, assembled in National Convention, confess that all these matters, necessarily including reconstruction as far as accomplished, have been decided against them, and so completely as not to admit of appeal and redetermination. In view of this confession, which is in accordance with the facts, we submit that it was simply impertinent for them, in the stump speech with which the platform closes, to inveigh against the "unparalleled oppression and tyranny" by which it is alleged their unalterable settlement was accomplished. But they do not stop here. They go on and assert that this irrevocable settlement is "unconstitutional, revolutionary and void."

This shows the utter dishonesty of purpose by which the Convention was inspired. Nor must it escape notice that the platform recognizes as just and final the Constitutional Conventions which have been held in the Southern States, under the reconstruction laws of Congress.

2. Gold and Greenbacks. The platform asserts that "where the obligations of the Government do not expressly state upon their face, or the law under which they were issued does not provide that they shall be paid in coin, they ought, in right and in justice, be paid in the lawful money of the United States."

Here is an explicit acknowledgment that one class of the public creditors shall be paid in gold and another in greenbacks. This does not furnish a substantial basis for the demand elsewhere set up that there shall be "one currency for the Government and the people, laborer and the office-holder, the pensioner and the soldier, the producer and the bondholder."

So far from the Democratic party pledging itself to serve all alike in respect to currency, it pledges itself to pay some in gold and some in greenbacks; that is, it avows its purpose to be to meet the obligations of the government exactly as they stand. It may not concur with the Republican party as to what those obligations enjoin, just as Republicans are not fully agreed among themselves touching that point; but it declares it will give the public creditors whatever is "nominated in the bond."

Sagacious Republicans would settle this dispute by reaching specie payments, through the shortest possible road, and that would give one currency alike to all people and practice deception and fraud upon none.

3. Equal Taxation. The language of the platform, on this head, is this:

"Equal taxation of every species of property, according to its real value, including Government bonds and other public securities."

This may mean much or little. Do the Democrats intend, if they should be trusted with power, to tax real estate? Do they mean to put city and town dwellings, stores, shops and factories under contribution to fill the national treasury? If they do, then they can consistently with the declaration they have made, tax capital invested in bonds. If they do not intend to tax real estate, including farm and farm stock, for federal purposes, then they will be restrained by their pledge from taxing capital in the national securities.

If they only mean to say they will tax the income derived from bonds equally with the income derived from other sources, then they only pledge themselves to do what the Republican party has been doing all along. Hence, their bid is only to continue to do what the Republicans have done from the start.

4. Negro Suffrage. The statement of the Platform is that the whole subject of qualifications for voting belongs to the respective States, and not at all to Congress. If this means anything, it means that negro suffrage is right in New York, Massachusetts, Alabama, Virginia, and all other States that see proper to ordain it. If two-thirds of the States, or all of them, see proper to let the blacks vote, to exactly that extent it is right and proper that the blacks should vote. Where now is the dogma that this is "a white man's government?" The Democratic National Convention has adjudged that cry to be claptrap and humbug. Will the Democrats hereabouts take notice, and deport themselves accordingly?

5. The platform formally abandons the doctrine of Free Trade. It is for:—"A tariff for revenue upon foreign imports, and such equal taxation under the Internal Revenue laws as will afford incidental production to domestic manufactures, and as will, without impairing the revenue, impose the least burden upon and best promote and encourage the great industrial interests of the country."

This demonstrates the truth of what we have often stated, that Democratic professions of Free Trade were dishonest. While declaiming against Protection and for Free Trade, Democrats have been careful to insist practically on such discriminations as suited their interests or their spites.

—From what has now been said it is manifest that the platform can be interpreted to mean anything that Democratic apostles have occasion in the exigencies of the canvass to find in it.

OUR CUSTOM HOUSE BUILDING.

A letter from the Secretary of the Treasury transmits to the House a communication from the Supervising Architect of the Treasury, relative to the condition of the building used by the Government at Pittsburgh for a Custom House, &c., which we annex:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF SUPERVISING ARCHITECT,
June 30, 1868.

SIR: I have the honor to submit, in accordance with your instructions, the following report of the condition of the building now occupied as a custom house, postoffice, court house, &c., at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and its adaptability to the wants of the Government.

The building is one of the most undesirable and unsuitable for the uses to which it is designed, being not only far too small, but so constructed that any material changes in the interior arrangements would be equivalent to a reconstruction of the entire building. The portion assigned to the use of the postoffice is so circumscribed, ill-ventilated and arranged, that it is scarcely habitable, and the proper performance of the duties of the office is an impossibility. The court-room is dark, ill-ventilated and inconvenient, and entirely unfit for the use to which it is devoted.

The lot on which the building is situated is not only too small to enable any additions to be made to the present structure, but to provide the light and ventilation so much needed.

The property is, however, extremely valuable, and I believe that it could be readily sold for its full value; and as the remodelling of the building is impracticable, and as a removal of a portion of the offices is indispensable, I would strongly recommend that authority be obtained to dispose of the property, and purchase a site ample for the erection of a building of sufficient capacity to accommodate the postoffice, custom house, United States Courts, and such other civil officers as may require offices therein, believing that such a plan would be for the interest of the Government as well as of the city of Pittsburgh.

Very respectfully,
A. B. MULLETT,
Supervising Architect.
Hon. HUGH MCCULLOCH,
Secretary of the Treasury.

ONE OR TWO REPUBLICAN journals have seen proper, in view of the decision of the Supreme Court pronouncing the Registry Law unconstitutional, to charge the late Legislature with not preparing the bill with sufficient care, and with not bringing it forward in season to have it critically examined. It is enough to say in reply, that the bill was prepared very early in the session by one of the clearest and most experienced judicial minds in the State, and was revised by him upon consultation with other legists, until it was believed to be impossible for the Supreme Court to detect a flaw in it.

The fact is the Supreme Court, as now constituted, will pronounce any law unconstitutional, the tendency of which is to curb the propensity of the Democrats towards fraudulent voting.

IN 1864, the Copperheads resolved that the war was a failure; in 1868, they are obliged to confess that it was not. In 1863, HORATIO SEYMOUR, in a Fourth of July oration, asserted that we could never beat the rebels. On that same day, GRANT went into Vicksburg and MEADE was pursuing LEE from Gettysburg. In 1868, the Democracy resolve that Reconstruction is a failure, and, before the ink is dry upon their resolutions, six of the ten rebel States are restored under the Republican policy, and the same Democrats vow that SEYMOUR and BLAIR will get all their electoral votes. The last declaration is as baseless as each of the other three which we have first quoted. The only failure which that party will realize, will be their failure to beat GRANT and COLFAX.

THE adoption of the Democratic Repudiation platform cost the people nearly twenty millions of dollars the first day. The New York journals report that a decline of one per cent. in Government securities instantly followed the promulgation of that manifesto. This was a loss of two months' interest, and figures up the sum we have named, on the interest-bearing debt. The repudiators desire to make it cost more than that before they get through.

WE HEAR, on all sides, of Democrats who say they will not vote for SEYMOUR; and we hear also, of the utmost unanimity among Republicans, for GRANT. This, then, is our opportunity. While the enemy is disconcerted and disheartened, and we are united and buoyant with well-grounded hopes, is the time of all others for efficient organization and local work. Improve the moments as they fly.

> The contest that commences to-day is between civil law and military despotism as to principle, and between brains and buttons as to candidates.—Democratic Paper.

It is the same old contest, gentlemen! You talked in the same way about coercion in 1861, and showed your Copperhead sympathies with rebellion and in favor of draft-resistance in 1864. Military despotism and buttons have indeed been nearly the death of your party.

JUDGE WOODWARD, in presenting ASA PACKER'S name to the rag-tag Convention as Pennsylvania's candidate for President, eulogized him as a man who had made no widows and orphans. This was a shot at HANCOCK and BLAIR, as well as GRANT. The Pennsylvania Democracy never will forgive the men who fought to preserve the Union, and made widows and orphans by shooting down its armed foes. The man who extorts their highest veneration is the man who, like SEYMOUR, stayed at home, resisted the draft, embarrassed the Government in every possible way, sneered at its credit, and denounced every effort made for its preservation.

HERETOFORE in Democratic National Conventions the Southern members have not only assumed a dictatorial bearing, but have absolutely compelled their Northern associates to submit to their behests. In the Convention just closed, the Southern delegates were as gentle and unassuming as any set of men could well be. They urged the Northern members to do the best, as to candidates and principles, they could for their own localities, promising meekly to acquiesce. The change inspires reflection.

"MY FRIENDS!"—This was the term of endearment addressed by HORATIO SEYMOUR to the New York rioters of 1863, who burned down Orphans' Asylums, roasted women and children alive, and strung up to lamp posts the objects of their hate. He certainly knew the import of the words when he called these red-handed murderers his "friends;" and his true position is easily understood in the light of the proverb that "a man is known by the company he keeps."

WE HAVE Democratic authority for saying that an impression prevailed among the Southern delegates, at New York, that a fair election would result in securing every Southern electoral vote for the SEYMOUR and BLAIR ticket, which FORREST, WADE HAMPTON & Co. nominated. We doubt the validity of this claim, but there is no discount on the high tribute of praise thus conceded to the fairness and justice of the Republican policy of reconstruction.

THE SEYMOUR rallying cry is "one currency for bond-holder and people." Very good; which shall it be—gold or greenbacks? If gold, what becomes of the Democratic proposition to pay off the bonds in greenbacks? If greenbacks, what becomes of the declaration in the Democratic platform that where the bonds require on their face, or by the terms of the law authorizing their issue, to be paid in coin, they should be so paid?

THE rebel soldiers in the Democratic Convention, headed by the bloody-handed FORREST, hailed FRANK BLAIR'S nomination with cheers and hearty demonstrations of their approval. BLAIR is a soldier after their own heart. He fought nominally in the Union army, it is true, but on the rebel side. Like an oarsman in a boat, he looked one way and rowed another.

THE Raftsman's Journal of Clearfield, Pa., one of our most appreciated weekly exchanges, comes to us in an entire new dress and greatly enlarged. It is a well conducted and fearless exponent of Republican principles. Its editor and proprietor, S. J. Row, Esq., is possessed with all the enterprise, tact and talent to make a readable first-class journal.

PENDLETON Democrats will be more, or less, than men if they can forgive the treachery which defeated their favorite at New York. Says the Cincinnati Enquirer, on this point:

> "The people were betrayed by men whom they trusted, and Mr. Pendleton was defeated by treachery.
>
> "The candidate of the people has been defeated by a combination of the monied interest of the East with a few envious and jealous partisans of the West."

THE HON. EDWARD COLES, one of the early Governors of the State of Illinois, and a highly esteemed resident of Philadelphia, died at his residence in that city, on Tuesday last. He was a native of Virginia, born December 15, 1786. In 1810 he was appointed private Secretary to President Madison, with whom he remained six years. In 1817, he was sent to Russia by Mr. Madison, on a diplomatic mission, as auxiliary to the resident Minister, to adjust certain difficulties. Returning in the following year, he soon after removed to Illinois, taking with him his slaves, whom he liberated. In 1822, he was elected Governor of Illinois, and served until 1826. Since 1833 his residence has been in Philadelphia. Several letters received by Gov. Coles from Mr. Jefferson and Mr. Madison, with a history of the memorable ordinance of 1787, read by him before the Historical Society, have received much attention as valuable contributions to the history of the times to which they relate.

THE New York Democrats have always been in league with the rebels, and the platform of Tuesday was manipulated by precisely the men who met in Democratic council at the Cooper Institute on the 3d of June, 1863, and adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That under the Constitution there is no power in the Federal Government to coerce the States, or any number of them, by military force. If the power of coercion exists at all, it is a legal power, and not military. That the Democratic party, if true to its own time honored principles, cannot sustain a war against sovereign States; that we believe it to be the duty of the party to proclaim these sentiments boldly, that the people may feel that there is at least one political organization which will deal honestly, and independently, and truthfully with them.

LEE'S BOAST.—The Independent says: New York will never again see such a crowd as that which was brought together by the Democratic Convention of 1856. It was a rather wild boast of the rebel leader four years ago that he would water his horses in the Delaware; but he has more than made good his promise, by sending his men to New York to nominate a President for 1869. It matters not who the Democratic candidate may be, he is the candidate of the rebellion.

"WHY is it," asked a Republican of his rebel Democratic friend, "that you have none but rebels in your National Convention from the South?" "Well, confidentially, and not to be printed, the reason is that all the Union men of the South are Republicans, and all the rebels Democrats, and we could do no better."—Press.

The Pittsburgh and Erie Railroad Disaster.

We annex, from the Erie Dispatch, such additional particulars, of the disaster at French Creek, as are new and interesting. Our yesterday morning's account gave all the main incidents, with the list of casualties, correctly. The Dispatch says:

The train consisted of one baggage car, two passenger coaches (containing in all about fifty persons), a sleeping car, and some empty emigrant cars. The engineer states that as soon as the locomotive ran on the bridge, he felt it sinking away, and pulled open the throttle, to jerk over the train, if possible. The engine and tender crossed the narrow chasm, the tender being thrown off the track by the tremendous shock, and the cars following went down with the shattered bridge. The smoking car was thrown on its side, to the right of the bridge, the next one partially "telescoped" upon it, and the sleeping car hung over the verge in the rear, partly supported by the wreck and partly by the coping of the bridge, while on the other side the baggage car had fallen backwards, and was shivered on the forward ends of the two cars beneath.

It is something strange that out of so many hurt the injuries are in general so slight. Among all mentioned in the list of wounded, there is not, so far as is known, a bone fractured, and but two of them are dangerously injured.

Immediately upon the receipt of the startling intelligence of a very bad accident, Drs. Spencer and Brandes, of this city, were sent down to care for the sufferers. Dr. Brandes returned a few hours later, but Dr. Spencer remained there until one o'clock in the afternoon of yesterday, unremittingly tramping from house to house on his errand of mercy.

The breakage of the bridge is one of the mysteries that time may yet solve. At half past three o'clock an engine fully ten tons heavier than the one on the passenger train, drawing a heavy freight train, passed over it, and later, a train loaded with emigrants, crossed it. The locomotive with the passenger train is one of the lightest on the line.

Less than two months since this bridge was submitted to a critical examination and was pronounced in good condition.

Another circumstance, in reference to the strength of the bridge, little thought of at the time, is of importance now. About five days ago, a number of carpenters employed by the company arrived at Union Mills, and having about an hour of spare time on their hands, concluded to improve it by examining the bridges in the vicinity. The one that broke was subjected, under and over, to a close inspection, and the carpenters and bridge-builders presented an informal report that the bridge was the strongest on the Western Division.

The bridge is of the "gallows frame" pattern, and was strengthened by large bolts. On the left hand side of the bridge, the nuts were about two and a half inches above the end of the bolt, and beneath them the thread was rusted. On the right side, where the structure gave way, the nuts were within a quarter of an inch of the bottom of the bolts. The thread above them for the space of a couple of inches, though here and there filled with wood splints, showed bright spots, as though tightly covered until recently, and the thread was perfect. Had the weight pressed the nuts down, they must have been stripped, and circumstances occurring in connection with the sad affair, justify us in thinking the weakening of the bridge by slacking the supports was done maliciously.

In the trunk of Angie S. Brainard were upwards of $90 in money and a certificate of deposit in the Keystone National Bank for $115, both of which amounts are missing. A gentleman, who refused to give his name, (he stated the money belonged to his employers and he would rather make it up from his means than report the loss,) had with him a satchel, containing over one thousand dollars in National currency, which was stolen from him. Another man had eighty-three dollars in a pocket book, in his pocket. While pinned by the seats, very soon after the shock, a hand was thrust into his pocket, the book taken, and the villain who stole it inhumanly left him, unable to extricate himself.

It was a fearful catastrophe at best, but the wonder is that more were not killed or maimed for life.

The people of Union Mills have earned the lasting regard of the passengers, by the unremitting attention and genuine kindness exhibited toward them. Business was in a measure suspended, and little was done except to wait upon the strangers. The houses containing them were thrown open, that all seeking friends might gain information readily. The coolest nooks in parlors were selected for their use.

The accident naturally called a good deal of attention to the bridges on the Western Division, and it was among experts deemed something beyond the ordinary laws of natural causes, that the bridge could have broken alone by the weight of the light train. This, on account of its superior strength, has been left standing. Three-fourths of the entire number of bridges on the Western Division, have been either wholly renewed, or so far repaired as to be considered as strong as new ones.

FUNERAL OF A FEMALE DRUID.—The funeral of Miss Elizabeth Crawford, a member of Paxton Grove, No. 6, I. O. F. D., attracted general attention yesterday afternoon, as the cortege passed through our principal streets. Some fifty or sixty ladies of the Order, dressed in black, with sashes thrown over their shoulders, sprigs of green worn on their breasts, and straw sundowns covering their heads, marched in solemn procession, as an escort to the remains of their deceased sister. This was the first turnout, we believe, of the Order to which the deceased belonged, and the novelty of their appearance created quite a sensation. They presented a very neat and large turnout, and marched with considerable precision.—State Guard.

IN demanding that Government bonds shall be taxed equally with every other species of property, the Democratic Convention asks either that the United States shall tax property, which is laying a direct tax—which Congress, by Section 9 of Article I. of the Constitution of the United States, is forbidden to do—or else that the States shall tax the Government bonds, which the Supreme Court of the United States has at least three times decided to be unconstitutional. As the champions of the Constitution and of the final authority of the Supreme Court, the Democratic party seems on this question to be undertaking the dangerous and difficult feat of swallowing itself whole.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE Senate Committee on Postoffices and Postroads, to whom the joint resolution of Mr. Raum, which passed the House, relating to the span of bridges across the Ohio, will be referred, will report against any bill making a uniform span for all bridges. They are in favor of each case being decided on the natural conditions of the land and water, the relations of commerce, &c., wherever the bridge is to be built, being convinced that in some cases a wide span is needed, while in others a narrow one is preferable.

THE Clerk of the Oil City Councils has absconded. He is said to be a heavy defaulter.

A Candidate's Programme.

We reprint the extraordinary docume which was proposed by Blair, the Dem cratic candidate for Vice President, as t platform upon which he wished to stan Its revolutionary ferocity becomes no peculiarly significant. Read the sugge tions of this Democratic candidate:

Frank P. Blair has sent a letter to Co Broadhead, in which he leaves it to hin after consultation with Blair's friend whether his name shall be presented to th Democratic Convention. Blair says: "Ther is but one way to restore the Governmer and the Constitution, and that is for th President elect to declare the reconstructio acts null and void, compel the army to ur do its usurpations at the South, disperse th carpet-bag State Governments, allow th white people to reorganize their own Governments, and elect Senators and Representatives. The House of Representative will contain a majority of Democrats from the North and they will admit the Representatives elected by the white people o the South, and with the co-operation of th President it will not be difficult to compe the Senate to submit once more to obligations of the Constitution. It will not b able to withstand public judgment if distinctly expressed on this fundamental issue and it is the sure way to avoid future strif to put this issue plainly to the country. I repeat that is the real and the only question which we should allow to control us. Shall we submit to the usurpations by which th Government has been overthrowed, or shal we exert ourselves for the full and complete restoration? It is idle to talk of greenbacks, gold, the public faith and public credit. What can a Democratic President do in regard to any of these with a Congress in both branches controlled by the carpet-baggers and their allies? He will be powerless to stop the supplies by which idle negroes are organized into political clubs, on which an army is mantained to protect those vagabonds in their outrages upon the ballot. These, and things like these, eat up the resources of the Government, and destroy its credit, make the difference between gold and greencacks. We must restore the Constitution before we can restore the finances, and to do this we must have a President who will execute the will of the people, by tramping into dust the usurpation acts. I wish to stand before the Convention on this issue; but it is one which embraces everything else that is of value in its large and comprehensive results. It is one thing that excludes all that is worth a contest, and without it there is nothing that gives dignity, honor or value to the struggle."

WHEN Mr. Perrin called for a nomination from Pennsylvania, Judge Woodward mounted his bench, dragging after him a ponderous roll, which he slowly unwound, and proceeded to read therefrom a dreary, monotonous biographical sketch of the Hon. Asa Packer, commencing from the tender period of Asa's infancy, and carrying him through the developments of boyhood to a full grown man. Long before he ended this pathetic recital, there were cries of "dry up," "simmer down," "feed him with a spoon," and other highly suggestive and decorous allusions to the proper treatment of children. Having consumed about half an hour with his nursery tale, the Judge wound up by placing Asa in nomination, whereupon everybody present heaved a profound sigh of relief.

THE differences which divide the Republican party in Philadelphia, on the subject of District Attorney, are about to be adjusted by the withdrawal of both Mann and Hazlehurst, which will make it necessary for the Republican Convention to re-assemble and nominate a new man.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

When the system is once affected it will not rally of its own accord; it needs help—it must be strengthened and invigorated; this is especially the case when the

KIDNEYS, BLADDER OR URINARY ORGANS

Are affected. For immediate relief and permanent cure,

DR. SARGENT'S

Diuretic or Backache Pills

Are a perfectly safe and reliable specific. This well known remedy has effected a large number of speedy and remarkable cures, and have never failed to give relief when taken according to directions.

Dr. Sargent's Backache Pills

Are purely vegetable, and contain no mercury or calomel. They do not exhaust the system, but on the contrary they act as a tonic, imparting new tone and vigor to the organs and strengthening the whole body. These Pills have stood the test of thirty-five years, and are still gaining in popularity.

SECURE HEALTH IN ADVANCE.

It is as difficult to extinguish a raging fever as a raging fire; but you can prevent a conflagration by rendering your dwelling fire-proof, and you can prevent an attack o fever by invigorating and purifying your "house of clay."

The outside pressure" upon the constitution and the vital powers at this season is tremendous. Every pore of the millions which cover the surface of the body is a drain upon its substance and its strength. To meet this depletion, to keep up the stamina under such a constant outflow of dissolving flesh, a tonic and invigorant is absolutely necessary, and time, that tries all things, has proved that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS impart a degree of strength and resistant power to the over-taxed vital forces, which is unattainable by any other known means. The effect of this inestimable vegetable preparation is to increase the appetite, accelerate digestion, tone the secretive organs, give firmness to the nerves, purify the blood, cheer the spirits, and, by thus rallying all the forces of the body, enable it to defy the enervating influence of the heat, and pass triumphantly through the trying ordeal of the summer months. As a safeguard against epidemics, and a preventive of the feebleness, lassitude and prostration, of which so many thousands complain at this season, it has a national reputation founded on twenty-five years of uninterrupted and unequalled success.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone," on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten it on my lungs. I knew that the peculiar mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to the discharge, which I believed was a salutary provision of nature to get rid of some morbid condition of the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, I—— C——.

"MANHOOD."—Another New MEDICAL PAMPHLET, from the pen of DR. CURTIS. The Medical Times says of this work: "This valuable treatise on the cause and cure of premature decline, shows how health is impaired through secret abuses of youth and manhood, and how easily regained. It gives a clear synopsis of the impediments to marriage, the cause and effects of nervous debility, and the remedies therefor." A pocket edition of the above will be forwarded on receipt of six stamps, by addressing Doctor CURTIS, No. 58 North Charles Street, Baltimore, Md. jy11:t1

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, July 10, 1868.

The increase export demand for coin for to-morrow's steamers made the market for gold very firm, and advanced from 140½ to 140⅞. The deadiness of the quotations during the last month drives speculators from the gold room, and the brokers do all in their power to keep down quotation in order to be enabled to buy cheap. The future price of gold is a matter of much speculation, but few are bold enough to operate on the present basis, or are enabled to name a figure which gold would reach before the importing season is over.

Bonds opened dull and became lower and weak towards noon; at the close, the market improved about ¼ per cent., with a few sellers in the market, but they lack the courage to buy to any extent.

Railroad shares are dull, and quotations nominal, few stocks are changing hands. Express shares all unchanged, and border State bonds slightly lower.

Money is very scarce and business dull. Columbia oil is offering at about 17 interest off.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 140⅞; 1881 bonds, 113¼; 5-20s, 1862, 113⅛; 1864 do, 110⅛; 1865 do, 111¼; new, 1865 and 1867, 108⅝; Ten Forties, 107¼; Seven Thirties, 108⅝.

—Closing quotations received by James T. Brady & Co.:

Gold, 140⅝; U. S. 6's, 1881's, 113¼; 5-20's, 1862, 113⅛; 5-20's, 1864, 110⅜; 5-20's, 1865, 111¼; 10-40's, 107¼; 5-20's, January and July, '65, 108⅝; 5-20's, January and July, '67 108¾; June 7-30's, 108¾; July 7-30's, 108¾; May Comp., 1865, 119,-30.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBUGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, July 10, 1868.

CRUDE—The Crude market was fairly active but weak, and towards the close there were offers to sell at a slight concession without finding buyers. The most remarkable feature we have to notice lies in the fact that while the market is weak and lower here, Antwerp has still further advanced, being quoted to-day at 53, francs, the highest point it has reached this year; strange as it may appear, the market was much stronger two or three days since, when Antwerp was several francs below where it is now. The only cause we can assign is the report of several new wells within a day or two, and the probability of an increased production. The reported sales reached ten thousand five hundred barrels in the aggregate as follows: 2,000 bbls spot, in tank, at 15; 500 spot at 14¾; 1,000 spot at 14½; two lots of one thousand each for August ot 15; 2,500 all year, buyers option, at 15.

REFINED—The operations in bonded oil were also very light to-day, and the market was weak and lower; compared with yesterday prices have declined fully half a cent, both for present and future deliveries, and at the close buyers, it was said, were asking for a still further reduction. Sale of 500 bbls last half July at 34½; 500 last half August on private terms; 1,000 each for October and November at 35. The last five months were offered at 35 without finding a buyer as was also September with same result. Late in the afternoon there was a plump offer of 34 for last half of August; with sales reported—in Philadelphia—at 34¼. A late telegram quoted last half July at 34; first half August at 34½, and spot at 34. There was a sale of 2,500 bbls yesterday for August at 35.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, July, 10, 1868.

There has been a sudden and very unexpected advance in flour in Chicago during the past day or two, for which no good or satisfactory reason can be assigned, and, as a consequence, it has but little influence outside of that market. This last movement was doubtless gotten up for the benefit of those who are carrying big stocks; a kind of gambling operation to let down large holders as easy as possible. That there will be an unusually heavy yield of Wheat is about as certain as anything can be; in many places the crop has already been secured in good condition, and within the next two or three weeks, the crop of the whole country will have been harvested. The advices in regard to Corn Potatoes, Rye, Oats, and Barley are also highly encouraging, and more than an average yield may be expected. With these facts in view, therefore, it is not likely that an advance in Flour can long be sustained.

GRAIN—But little old Wheat offering, and but little in market: the last sale reported was at $2,30 for prime Red, but millers are now only offering $2,20 to $2,25; New Southern Wheat it is stated can be delivered here at that price. Oats quiet and unchanged: may be quoted at 77 to 78c on track and 80 in store. Rye is unchanged at $1,75 to $1,80 for round lots. Corn is still quoted at $1,00 to $1,05 for Shelled, and $1,06 to $1,08 for prime Ear. No Barley in market.

BUTTER—Is dull and neglected, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand; small sales of prime to choice at 23 to 25c.

EGGS—In fair supply and dull but unchanged at 20 to 21c.

FLOUR—The market is firmer, under the influence of the advices from the west, but, as yet, there is no advance here, nor is it likely that there will be. Buyers, both dealers and consumers, take hold very lightly, and with good reason, too, and the policy of almost everybody is to buy as little as possible, so that advantage can be taken of the decline, when it occurs. We continue to quote at $9 to $9,50 for low grade, and $10 to $10,50 for good to choice Spring Wheat; Winter Wheat ranges from $11 to $11,50, and fancy brands at $13 to $14. Rye Flour, $8,75 to $9.

HAY—There was a very light supply of Hay in Allegheny to-day, and the market was firm but unchanged; we continue to quote at $15 to $20 for new, and $20 to $25 for old.

MILL FEED—Steady with sales of Bran at $1,20 to $1,25, and Middlings at $1,85 to $1,95.

POTATOES—There is a good demand for new crop, and we can report regular sales at $6 per bbl.

SALT—Is dull and nominally unchanged; $1,75 to 1,80 to the trade, and $2,00 for small lots.

DRIED FRUIT—Is in good supply and very dull, and the stock in this market is mostly of an inferior quality.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet and unchanged at 13½ for shoulders; 15¾ to 16 for Ribbed, and 17¼ to 18 for Clear Sides, and 19½ to 19¾ for canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Prime kettle rendered Lard 17¼ to 17¾. Dried Beef 21 to 22. Mess Pork, $28,50 to $28,75.

LARD OIL—In very fair demand; we now quote at $1,18 for No. 2, and $1,38 to $1,40 for No. 1.

PITTSBURGH METAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, July 10, 1868.

The market was steady with a fair demand, and a good degree of activity was manifested in the market for crude irons at prices fully up to last week's figures. Sales of Bituminus coal smelted were restricted from want of stock. The supply of the better grades of thin irons is reported as exhausted. The sales reported were confined to common and inferior brands, of which the supply is very light. We are reported the following sales:

Cincinnati Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, July 10.—Cotton is quiet but unchanged, with sales of middling at 30c. There is nothing doing in Tobacco, and dealers are preparing for a great annual fair. Flour is firmer, with sales of family at $9,25a9,50 for old, and $9,50a9,75 for fresh made. Wheat is steady and in fair demand, with sales of winter at $2a2,05. Corn is buoyant and higher, with sales of ear at 87, and shelled at 88c. Oats; the market is steady at 75c for No. 1. Rye is dull and declining, with sales of No. 1 at $1,55. Barley Malt in demand at $2,40a2,50 for No. 1. There is no old Barley in market, and contracts have been made for new at $1,70, to be delivered in October. Whisky is firm at $2,35 in bond, and the prices of free are quite irregular, and holders are anxious to get out of stock. Provisions are generally firm and in good demand. Mess Pork; sales were made in the early part of the day of 1,200 barrels at $29, but later in the day was not to be had at less than $28,50. Bulk Meats are firmer but quiet, at 12 and 14c for shoulders and sides, and buyers were offering ⅛c less. Bacon; shoulders were held at 13c, and sides at 17c, but could not be bought for less than 16⅞c at the close. Sugar cured hams bring 18a19c. Lard is selling at 17c; but is generally held out of the market; about 1,000 tierces were procured last evening at 17c. Butter is scarce and firm at 26a30c. Sugar and Coffee is steady. Linseed Oil is selling at $1,02a1,03 in a small way for round lots. There is no demand for Lard Oil, and sales were made early in the day at $1,25a1,30, but at the close was held more firmly, owing to the advance in Lard. Petroleum is firm at 36a38c for refined, free. Potatoes are in light supply and there is a good demand at $3. Gold is buying at 140¼, and selling at 140⅜. Exchange is dull at 1-10 per cent. discount. The money market continues close.

Cleveland Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, Juls 10.—Flour dull; weak at the following quotations, XX red winter city made $11 50a11 75; do country $10 50a11 00; XX spring, city made $10a11 50; Wheat; No 1 red winter held at $2 23; No. 2 do $2 10. Corn; sales of 5,000 bushels at 94c. Oats; sales of 1 car at 75c. Rye; market dull and inactive; held at $1 75a1 80. Barley; market nominal. ### "The Valley of Death."

In Kinglake's new volume on the Cri- ean war is a graphic description of the iarge of the Six Hundred at Balaklava. e thus describes the ride, and Cardigan's ppearance :

The pace for some time was firmly gov- rned. When horsemen, too valorous to be iinking of flight, are brought into straits f this kind, their tendency is to be gallop- ıg swiftly forward, each man at the great- st pace he can exact from his own charger, ius destroying, of course, the formation of ie line ; but Lord Cardigan's love of strict niform order was a propensity having all ie force of a passion, and as long as it eemed possible to exert authority by voice r by gesture, the leader of this singular on- et was firm in repressing the fault.

Thus when Captain White, of the 17th ancers, (who commanded the squadron of irection,) became "anxious," as he frank- y expressed it, "to get out of such a mur- erous fire and into the guns, as being the est of the two evils," and endeavoring, vith that view, to "force the pace," pressed orward so much as to be almost alongside f the chief's bridle arm, Lord Cardigan hecked this impatience by laying his sword cross the Captain's breast, telling him at he same time not to try to force the pace, nd not to be riding before the leader of the rigade. Otherwise than for this, Lord Cardigan, from the first to the last of the nset, did not speak or make sign. Riding traight and erect, he never once turned in is saddle with the object of getting a glance at the state of the squadrons which ollowed him ; and to this rigid abstinence giving proof, as such abstinence did, of an unbending resolve—it was apparently owing hat the brigade never fell into doubt concerning its true path of duty, never wavered (as the best squadrons will, if the leader, for even an instant, appears to be uncertain of purpose,) and was guiltless of even inclining to any default except that of failing o keep down the pace. * * * *

But although he rode singly, and although, as we have seen, he rigidly abstained from any retrograde glance, Lord Cardigan, of course, might infer from the tramp of the regiments close following, and from what (without turning in his saddle,) he could easily see of their flanks, that the momentum now gathered and gathering was too strong to be moderated by a commander; and, rightly perhaps avoiding the effort to govern it by voice or by gesture, he either became impatient himself, and draw the troops on more and more by first increasing his own speed or else yielded (under necessity) to the impatience of the now shattered squadrons, and closely adjusted his pace to the flow of the torrent behind him. In one way or in the other, a right distance was always maintained between the leader and his first line. As before, when advancing at a trot, so now, while flinging themselves impetuously deep into the jaws of an army, these two regiments of the first line still had in their front the same rigid hussar for their guide, still kept their eyes fastened on the crimson-red overalls, and the white near hind leg of the chestnut which showed them the straight, honest way—the way down to the mouths of the guns.

A New Game—Lacrosse.

A correspondent of the Troy Times says:

"A new field game has sprung up in this neighborhood since the visit of a band of Indians last summer, who played the game at the Rensselaer Park Tournament. I refer to the Indian game of Lacrosse, originating among the Indian tribes of America long before a pale face saw these shores, and played extensively in the Canadas for years past. It has already obtained a foothold, and only needs introduction to the youth of our towns and cities to become the great rival of the present national game for public favor. Wherever it has been witnessed, it has delighted spectators by its wonderful variety of play, the splendid throwing of the ball to each other; the dodging past checkers with the ball on the lacrosse stick, the rush toward the goal, and the stopping of the ball by the goal-keeper on its swift rush through the flags, the running and magnificent play exhibited on the field by the players—all combining to make lacrosse the finest field game extant. It can be played when base ball and cricket cannot; the ground needs no rolling or preparation, and a child can immediately understand and appreciate its meaning and beauty.

"Every player has a lacrosse stick, and one gets as much play as another. The materials required are cheap and simple—the lacrosse stick, worth from fifty to seventy-five cents, a solid rubber ball, and four flag poles or stakes for goals. Wherever there is a field or common, if the grass be not long, there is a field ready for lacrosse, and there can be no better game for a country like ours. It has many advantages and attractions, and there is no game which better developes speed and endurance, and all the manly qualities of head and heart. It can be played by young and old; with the vim to please the former, or the quietness to suit the latter. For beauty and variety, skillful play and sober excitement, it has no equal. Until last fall it was subject to abuse, being destitute of laws; but the National Lacrosse Association of Canada formed standard rules and regulations for the game, which are recognized as law.

"If about twelve in every city, town or village in the Union would unite and form clubs, any information required about the game, etc., would be furnished by addressing the Secretary of the Montreal Lacrosse Club; and before 1868 is over the 'crack' clubs of Montreal and Ottawa would find their match on this side of the border. Many of the officers of the regiments stationed in Montreal, who saw the match between the Montreal Lacrosse Club and the Indians last year, were so delighted with the game that they intend introducing it into England."

An application has been made to the Trustees of the Cornell University to admit young women as well as young men to the privileges and advantages of that institution. Without advocating this special application, it is obvious enough that so long as women make up nine-tenths of the number of teachers now employed in the schools of this State, girls and young women, especially those who are training to be teachers, should have all the educational advantages that are extended to the other sex. Women are found to be admirably adapted to teaching the young; they are patient, as well as persevering, and boys who are rebellious against male teachers are often models of good behavior under female instruction and direction. Teachers who so excel in the mere discipline of schools should be prepared in the best manner to impart instruction also.—N. Y. World.

—The British Emigration Commissioners state, in their twenty-eighth annual report, just published as a Parliamentary Blue Book, that, in the year 1867, only 195,953 emigrated from the United Kingdom—which is smaller than any year since 1862, and nearly 9,000 less than the number for 1866. It seems that 55,494 were English, 12,86[illegible] Scotch, [illegible] Irish and [illegible] foreigners.

A Trip to Mammoth Cave, Kentucky

Messrs. Editors:—Early on the morning, just at the break of day,—while the mocking bird was still making the clear night air echo and re-echo with melodious straint, a party of nearly a dozen bouyant with life and bright spirits left the "rock city" of Nashville, Tennessee, for the far-famed mammoth cave of Kentucky. Landing at Cave city about nine o'clock we found stages ready, which made immediate connection with all trains for the transfer of passengers to the cave. A ride of ten and one-half miles over a rough circuitous road brought us to the object of our long excited curiosity. The sharp appetite created by the ride was sumptuously provided for by the Messrs. Proctor on our arrival at the Cave hotel; they have every accommodation necessary for the comfort of visitors; they have a large building in the shape of an L capable of accommodating from four to five hundred persons; the beautiful shade trees that surround the house on all sides; the long, wide promenades, the spacious ball room which is free to all who wish to "trip on the light fantastio toe." and the well provided tables, and accommodating employees, need not pe be spoken of.

At 2:30 P. M. the party, dressed in the proper costume, and headed by the gentlemanly old guide, Ned Meredith. marched to the cave, a short distance from the cave.

No unpleasant feelings were experienced on leaving a temperature of 98 degrees to 59 degrees, the uniform temperature of the cave throughout the year. After traversing the many winding recesses, climbing over rocks and descending into bottomless pits, all pointed out by our well informed old guide, we returned to the hotel in time for supper, rather tired, but well satisfied with our subterraneous ramble. Two routes are made each day; the long route from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.; the short route from 2:30 to 6 P. M., respectively eight and fifteen miles from the entrance to the cave. This is certainly the grandest specimen of nature's handiwork known in this country, and every lover of the sublime and the beautiful should not fail to visit it. Persons can make the short route by stopping off twenty-four hours, or the long route forty-eight hours, at a cost of from ten to twenty dollars. We reluctantly wended our way home well satisfied we had received the worth of our money. M.

Examination of the Public School of Tarrtown, Pa.

Messrs. Editors Gazette:—We had the pleasure of attending the closing exercises of the above named school, taught by Mr. W. Taylor Ackison, a young, but successful teacher, which came off on last Friday, the 3d inst.

A large number of the patrons and others interested were present, manifesting deep interest in the peformances. All of the forenoon and part of the afternoon was occupied in class drill, commencing with the card classes and closing with the advanced Algebra class.

Many of the classes were on the rostrum but a few minutes, and others unheard, owing to the limited time. A few, however, were allotted half an hour for each rocitation, viz: Grammar and Algebra, (advanced,) Fifth Reader and the advanced Arithmetic.

The Grammar class was severely tested by teachers present in analyzing and parsing, and did well; often taking issue with the teachers. Each class—and especially the reading—exhibited the marks of careful training; the members doing credit to themselves and teachers, and giving entire satisfaction to all present.

The Spelling department deserves particular notice, as it was, in our opinion, a decided improvement in that line. The teacher, with book and pencil in hand, took his position as far away as possible from the class; "gave out' the word, the pupil pronounced the word, then each letter and syllable in order, being careful not to "go back on it," and then concluded by pronouncing it. The word was given out but once and each letter had to be pronounced with its proper sound at the time of spelling the syllable. The teacher, unnoticed to the class, places a little mark on the word and at the place where the mistake was made. A failure to comply with any one of the above requirements, however trifling, entitled the one below, detecting the error and correcting it, to take the place thus forfeited.

In this way the attention of the class is secured, and an interest awakened that reaches, oft times, the highest degree of excitement. Each member has an individual interest at stake, and will always be "on the look out."

This is decidadly the best method of conducting a Spelling recitation that I have ever seen.

After the examination closed, Hon. John Sloan, one of the School board, made a few remarks complimenting the teacher and the school on the success of the past winter and summer, in imparting and receiving instruction.

Prof. M. N. McCollough being present, was called on and responded at some length, giving many valuable suggestions to the pupils, parents, and especially the directors, in the way of educational reform. His remarks were well appreciated.

The teacher then, in a very neat and affectionate address, after thanking the Board of Directors for their aid and the patrons for their kindness, bade the school "farewell."

All now repaired to a wood near by, where the "lots of good things" were heaped upon a table prepared, and enjoyed a good supper.

The "youngsters" remained on the ground amusing themselves with various sports till sundown. Guilielmus.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. TTSF

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, Fifth street, next door to GAZETTE office.

Travel on the street cars is very dull just now.

Paving.—Mulberry alley, Ninth ward, is being paved with cobble stones.

Raspberries.—The morket is glutted with raspberries, but thev are still held at extravagant prices.

Behind Time.—The Philadelphia express missed the connections yesterday and was consequently three hours behind time.

At Work.—Mr. John Boyd, the contractor for lowering stop cocks and water paves, commenced work yesterday on Wylie and Fulton streets.

The work of laying the double track of the Pittsburgh and Birmingham Passenger Railway, on Carson street, Birmingham, is progressing rapidly.

Breach of the Peace.—Michael Hardtmeyer made oath against Xavier Wisharhauser, yesterday, for breach of the peace. A warrant was issued by Alderman Mullen.

Scraping.—The streets in Allegheny are undergoing a thorough scraping. Those of them which have been relieved of their coat of mud present a very much improved appearance.

On the Ground.—The twenty inch pipe which is to be laid on Penn street to Lawrenceville, and then on Butler street, is principally all on the ground. It will be put down some time this season.

Called Her Names.—Sarah Rouff alleges that John Stewart called her names and used violent and abusive language toward her. Alderman Mullen issued a warrant for the arrest of the ungallant John.

Injured by a Fall.—Martin Radcliff fell from the deck of a tug boat lying at the Pittsburgh wharf, yesterday morning, and was severely injured. He was taken to his home on Penn street, and medical aid called in.

Sunday Business.—Mary Gallaher charged M. Matter with selling liquor on Sunday at the Union Depot Hotel, in the Third ward. Alderman McMasters held the defendant in $500 bail for his appearance at Court.

Will be Opened.—The Street Commissioner says that Second street, which has been blockaded from Try street to the Birmingham bridge, in consequence of paving, will be opened for travel Wednesday next.

Larceny of Jewelry.—Annie Fries charged John Lauffman, before Alderman Mullen, yesterday, with the larceny of a gold ring, valued at $7,50. Lauffman was arrested, and after producing the ring and paying the costs was discharged.

The Festival of the Fourth United Presbyterian Church has been so largely attended that the ladies have concluded to keep it open this evening. A last opportunity is presented for visiting it and spending a pleasant time. It is held in the Fifth ward public school house.

Tore Down a Fence.—Alderman Mullen yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of George and Robert Long, charged on oath of Christian Sumerford with tearing down a fence on his property, in the Eighth ward, Allegheny. The defendants waived a hearing and the case will go to Court.

Abandonment.—Eliza Jane Mitchell made information, before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, against her husband, James Mitchell, for abandonment. James was arrested three miles from Taylortown, Washington county, and brought to the city where he was committed to jail for a hearing.

Adjourned—No Nomination.—The Conferees appointed by the Republicans of the Twenty-Fourth Congressional District to nominate a candidate for Congress, held a meeting yesterday morning and one in the afternoon, but failing to select a candidate, they adjourned to meet Monday at three o'clock.

Runaway.—A horse owned by Dr. Barr ran away on Smithfield street, yesterday, and when just opposite the proposed City Hall, he tripped, and fell down in such a manner as to break his right fore leg. The animal was a valuable one, but the accident rendered it necessary to shoot him.

Aggravated Assault and Battery.—John Bush, according to his own statement, was used rather roughly by John McCandless and —— Thompson. He alleges that they struck him a violent blow on the neck, accompanying it with several others in the face, all of which was done with their clenched fists. Alderman Mullen issued a warrant.

Struck With a Brick.—M. W. Feely states that his body was taken as a mark by J. Miller, who struck the same with a brick. Feely alleges that Miller, not content with the brick insult, pounced upon and beat him and otherwise abused him. Miller was arrested and held in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance before Alderman McMasters on Friday, July 17, to answer the charge.

Assault and Battery.—Anestesia Lenhart made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging Katrina Schevan and Katrina Lenhardt with assault and battery. The parties reside in East Liberty, and Officer Moon yesterday evening arrested the accused and brought them to the Mayor's office. After a hearing they were held to bail for their appearance at Court.

Committed.—Rachel Jones, the young girl who was arrested Thursday night, charged with attempting to fire the house of Mrs. Nolan, on Sixth street, was taken before the Mayor yesterday for a hearing. Mrs. Nolan, who made information against her, testified that she had set fire to some clothing in a bureau. She was committed to jail in default of bail for her appearance at Court.

Keeping a Gambling House.—Dennis Cahill yesterday made information before Alderman Thomas, charging Fred. Andregg with keeping a gambling house. He alleges that the accused keeps a tavern in the Eighth ward, in connection with which is a ten-pin alley and other devices for gambling, and that on Thursday the accused and others won money from the deponent at said house. Andregg was arrested, and after a partial hearing was held to appear again on Monday.

False Pretence.—Lewis Meyers, yesterday, stated that Henry Coffman obtained boarding from him to the amount of $12,80, by representing that he was the owner of a boat load of stone, whioh was on the Allegheny river, and that as soon as the stone was sold he would pay the bill, all of which representation was false. Coffman was arrested on a warrant issued by Alderman McMasters, and committed in default of $500 bale for a further hearing.

Committed.—Maranda Palmer, arrested some weeks since by market constable Dressler on a charge of pocket picking, and against whom three charges for shoplifting was subsequently made by Messrs. F. H. Eaton, Fifth street; P. H. Hacke, Fifth and Market streets and Josepu Horne, Market street, had a hearing yesterday before the mayor and was held to bail in the sum of $500 for her appearance at court in each case, in default of which she was committed to jail.

Progressing.—The laying of the water pipe on Beaver avenue, Fifth and Sixth wards, Allegheny, is progressing rapidly, and will be completed the whole length of that thoroughfare in a few days.

Body Found.—The body of Theophilus Hermann, the boy who was drowned in the Allegheny river on Thursday evening, an account of which was published, was found yesterday afternoon about four o'clock near the railroad bridge. It was conveyed to the residence of his parents on Cherry street, Third ward, and the Coroner will hold an inquest to-day.

Serious Accident.—On Thursday evening the horses attached to a carriage, while returning from a funeral, driven by James Fleney, became frightened by the explosion of a fire cracker, and ran away, throwing Fleney from his seat to the ground, and causing him to be seriously injured. The horses continued their flight until brought up by a fence. There were six persons in the carriage at the time, but beyond suffering from the fright they sustained no injury. Fleney was conveyed to his home in the carriage, where his injuries are being attended to.

Lost Child.

A bright, sprightly little child, looking to be five years old, was brought into the Allegheny Mayor's office last evening, about seven o'clock, by some children, who stated that they had found it wondering through the streets. The child said its name was Willie Straub, but could give no further information of itself. It manifested no disposition to cry over its situation, but laughed and chattered away as though it had been at home. The Mayor has taken charge of it until the parents can be found.

Nuisance.

There are a great many nuisances in this world, but the one which seems most to trouble Mrs. Kelly, residing in Mealy's row, No. 24 Pennsylvania avenue, is that occasioned by Mrs. Doland, who occupies the upper floor in the same establishment, and who, it is alleged, is in the habit of throwing all her dirty water and slops just where they will fall on the tenant below. Alderman McMasters issued an invitation yesterday for the attendance of the thoughtless lady at his office, and doubtless the matter will there be arranged so as to do away with all unpleasantness in the future.

Man Killed by Lightning—Water Spout.

At East Liverpool, Ohio, on Wednesday, occurred one of the severest storms ever known in that locality. It rained very heavily, and when the storm was at its heighth a house was struck by lightning, the occupants, two women, being prostrated and very much stunned. The fluid passed to the anjoining house and instantly killed a man named Pugh, his body being very much torn and mangled. A water spout also burst over the town, doing very great damage. The embankment at the railrord was torn away, and a new locomotive completely covered with the earth.

Alleged Horse Stealing.

Mr. H. C. Shaffer, keeper of a livery stable in Allegheny. yesterday made information before Alderman Humbert against Dr. J. D. Duncan for horse stealing. Mr. S. represents that about two weeks since the accused hired a horse from him, for the purpose of taking a ride, but failed to return him at the specified time. On Thursday, officer David McKelvy found the animal in the possession of Mr. Riner, keeper of a beer hall in the Eighth ward, Allegheny, who states that he bought him for seventy-five dollars. A warrant was issued, but it was ascertained that Dr. D. is absent from the city.

Navigation on the Monongahela.

The repairs on the dam at Lock No. 2 are progressing rapidly, and it is thought will be completed within two weeks. The break in the dam is now closed, and there is sufficient water in the pool to allow light draught steamers to run. The People's Line have chartered "Allena May," a light draught steamer, and are now making regular trips. She came in last evening and will leave this evening at four o'clock. The "Active," we learn, is also making daily trips. This will be an accommodation to the citizens of the Monongahela Valley, as they have no means of transportation save the river.

Coroner's Inquest.

The Coroner's jury impannelled in the case of James P. McDowell, who was killed on the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, on Wednesday evening, met at the Coroner's office last evening, pursuant to adjournment, and after taking the testimony of Mr. E. Taylor, the engineer, and William Kerr, the fireman of the train by which he was killed, they returned a verdict of accidental death. One of the jurymen suggested that the company be requested to have a watchman stationed at all curves on the road to keep persons from walking on the track. Another suggested that a law prohibiting persons from walking upon the tracks of railroads be stringently enforced.

Alleged False Pretence.

Dr. D. Wilson, who is stopping at the St. Clair Hotel, was arrested on an information preferred against him by Patrick Slattery for false pretence. Patrick alleges that Wilson obtained five dollars from him, representing that he could cure him of an impediment in his speech, and engaging, if the attempt failed, to return the money. After doctoring for awhile and getting no better from the treatment, Patrick says he asked for his money, which was refused, hence the suit. A hearing was had in the case before Alderman M'Masters yesterday, who discharged Wilson after the refunding of the money and the payment of the costs.

City Mortality.

Dr. A. G. McCandless, Physician to the Board of Health, reports the following interments in the city of Pittsburgh, from June 28th to July 5th, 1868:

Larceny of Rope.

Yesterday, between twelve and one o'clock p. m., the warehouseman, at Godfrey & Clark's, Liberty street, on returning from his dinner, observed a man having come out of the back door of the warehouse, with a quantity of rope in his possession, and thinking there was something wrong, followed him hastily until he overtook him, when seeing that he was a stranger and that he had three pieces of rope which belonged to Godfrey & Clark, he called an officer and had him arrested, when he gave his name as Daniel Curtin. He was taken to the Mayor's office when Mr. Godfrey, a member of the firm, made information, charging Curtin with larceny, and after a hearing, the Mayor held him to bail in the sum of five hundred dollars, in default of which he was committed to jail.

INTERESTING OCCASION.

A Worthy Retiring Official Made the Recipient of an Elegant Testimonial of Esteem from the Employes of the C. & P. Railroad.

Wellsville, Ohio. on the line of the Pittsburgh and Cleveland Railroad, on Thursday evening last, was enlivened by an occasion which will long be remembered as one of brilliancy, cheer and good humor. It had been previously arranged by the numerous employés of the road from the Smoky to the Forest city, to meet together at that point to give expression in a substantial way to their high regard, esteem and friendship for their very worthy and highly respected former co-laborer J. H. Devereaux, Esq., who lately resigned the important position of Vice President of the Company. Fully eight hundred gentlemen, employed in the various departments of the road, and from all its principal points, brought together by special trains from Pittsburgh and Cleveland, assembled at the commodious Railroad House, where, after an organization was effected, Sol. Schoyer, Esq., Attorney for the road for this city, proceeded, on behalf of the employés, to present Mr. Deveraux with a spirited blooded horse and beautiful and elaborately finished family barouche, with harness and outfit complete. The recipient was taken completely by surprise, not having had the slightest intimation of the object of the meeting further than a friendly interchange of good feeling with the many friends on the line with whom the most cordial relations had ever existed.

Mr. Schoyer addressing Mr. Devereaux, said: That it was the privilege of such occasions as this, that friends could throw aside reserve and with propriety give expression to feelings of esteem publicly and face to face with the friend they wished to honor. Such compliments were honorable alike to to him who receives, and to them who give, they marked on the one hand the possession of true merit, and on the other a generous appreciation; and that it was with genuine pleasure and earnest sympathy, that on behalf of his friends of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad Company he welcomed Mr. Devereaux, and said to him, for them, that knowing him so long and so well as they had known him, both officially and unofficially, they could and did justly and truly esteem and respect him. The consciousness of duties well performed, was a pleasure to him; the pleasure must be greatly heightened when he knew that his co-workers, who were his most competent judges, accorded him the credit therefor, which was his due. The speaker thought the union of that consciousness and of that appreciation must make the most delightful experience of life. Surely in no other position are the duties so varied, so arduous, so responsible, as in that which he had just quitted. One thoroughly fit, was like the poet, born not made. The great public who were whirled so rapidly, and safely, over the line, from day to day, little knew what constant care, and unceasing attention every movement of every train, required to secure that safety. What decision of mind, what judgment, and discretion for every emergency. It seems as if the mind spun out as it were with every train, comprehending from one end of the line to the other the situation of each at every moment, controlling the complex problem of the road's operations. The trains were the nerves of the Superintendent, and re-produced themselves and their experiences on his brain every hour of the day; so that his mind might be said to be a railroad in miniature, with all its vast concerns, and changes in constant operation. The speaker proceeded to say that the evening's ceremonies were intended to express to Mr. Devereaux that in the estimation of those who had worked with him, all his duties had been well, faithfully and courteously performed. And for further assurances they had delegated the speaker to present to him the horse, carriage, and equipments, before him. They begged him to invest the gifts with the sentiments of the givers, and value them as exponents of their friendship. They were sorry to lose him from his old place, which he had so well filled; they regretted that their intercourse with him officially, and to a great extent personally, was at an end; they congratulated him that his abilities had called him to a wider field of operations, and they wished for him every comfort and enjoyment of life—and the fullest fruition of every hope.

Mr. Devereaux replied as follows:

My Friends—It is with difficulty I can express my appreciation of your sympathy and respect, which speaks so eloquently to my heart through this beautiful gift, and for which you have all my earnest acknowledgment and thanks.

It is with mingled feelings of sadness and pleasure I mark this gathering—sadness, for in our parting I know that I am leaving men faithful in well doing, tried and true, and who have become endeared to me through a common labor. But there is pleasure also, for by this spontaneous gathering, by your looks, by your kindly words, I know that, for the last four years having discharged my duties towards you to the best of my ability, we separate with feelings only of tenderness and affection.

Mr. Devereaux then referred to his connection with the C. & P. Road, speaking of his pride in representing such a band of men, who, in road, in train, in yard, office and shops were enrolled upon that line. He spoke of the patient faithfulness of the employes for the last two years, which, joined to a perfect unity and accord amongst all, had advanced most signally the interests of the line. He called attention within that time to the opening of a new pathway to the elevation and improvement by the employes, which he trusted in the future would be enlarged more and more. This was the Employes' Library and Reading Room, the results of which would be to develop intellect and sound judgment, fitting the men the better for usefulness in all spheres, and enlarging more and more the field of their ability and of individual success and enjoyment.

He continued by bearing witness to the faithfulness and courtesy of all officers of the line and management, and of their President he wished to testify that everything pertaining to the interest and welfare of the employes had ever received his hearty support and coöperation, and Mr. Devereaux desired to assure the employes of the road that it would still be the aim and wish of the President to protect and advance their interests, through the tried and noble men who succeeded him.

He concluded as follows:

And to one and all of the friends here present and absent, to each one, accept my earnest wishes for your welfare and prosperity. and so may God bless you all.

After the presentation ceremony was over Mr. Devereaux was overwhelmed with congratulations from all sides. It was pleasing to notice in what high respect and affection he was held by all those in attendance. The same hearty, honest congratulation was offered from the highest officials of the road down to those occupying the humblest positions. They all seemed to feel that they were parting with a friend whose interests had ever been identified with theirs and whose generous course had gained for him a warm place in their hearts as well as a high place in their estimation. The present was a princely one, costing somewhere in the neighborhood of two thousand dollars, and was a sensible selection by practical donors.

The entire party then sat down to a splendid supper served up in the proverbial good style of Mrs. Bean, the attentive hostess. The spread was all that could be desired, the boards fairly groaning beneath the weight of the good things spread upon them. As our C. & P. friends are proverbial for their cold water proclivities, no wine was introduced, and we daresay the occasion was none the less happy and enjoyable on that score. The affair was enlivened by the justly popular Harper's Brass Band of Wellsville, and all went merry as a marriage bell. Among the guests we observed, Messrs. Stewart and Chapman, of Cleveland, James McC. Creighton, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and many other well known officials.

Mr. Devereaux filled the responsible position of Vice President and Superintendent of the C. & P. R. R. during the past five years, and its present great prosperity and proud position amongst the leading railway arteries of the country are largely due to his incessant labor, unceasing diligence and rare executive abilities. That he has merited the confidence of his co-laborers was amply demonstrated by the occasion just reported.

He enters into his new sphere of action in a few days, having been chosen Vice President of the Lake Shore Railroad, becoming Acting President in the absence in Europe of the President. Into this position he carries with him liberal experience, which cannot fail to exercise a potent influence on the prosperity of that road.

R. F. Smith, Esq., the able Auditor of the Company succeeds Mr. Deveraux as Vice President, and William Stewart, Esq., assumes the duties of Superintendent. In these selections we congratulate the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad Company on the good judgment exercised, but no railway can boast of more able and competent operatives, and its present favor with the shipping and traveling communities is the best evidence afforded of the fact.

Commencement of Avery College.

The commencement exercises took place Thursday, and quite a large assemblage of persons gathered in the College chapel to witness the closing exercisss.

The annual address to the students was delivered by Rev. Henry Highland Garnett in his usual eloquent and inimitable style, full of inert food for reflection and of hope for the future upbuilding of the race.

Other orations and essays, by members of the school followed, all of them giving promise that the hopes of their President would be speedily realized. We have only space to mention a few of the many excellent orations. Among these we were pleased to notice one by Miss Lizzie C. Moles on "The Rev. Charles Avery, the Christian Philanthropist,"—a well written production, which exhibited great care and preparation. "Parting Words," by Miss Lizzie R. Gilson, was another splendid exhibition of a rare order of talent amang our colored youth, and elicited high commendations from those present.

The exercises closed with the distribution of rewards and singing that heart-stirring hymn, "The Dear Ones at Home," and benediction by Rev. John Peck.

The fall term begins the second Monday in September under the most favorable auspices. Quite a number of the graduates will enter the sophomore class, and we sincerely trust that the fond hope of its lamented founder may be soon realized by having in our sister city an institution of learning that will largely aid in the education and elevation of the whole race, and under the present management of its able corps of teachers we know of nothing to hinder its realization.

The present faculty consists of Rev. Henry Highland Sornett, President and Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy; Mr. B. K. Sampson, Professor of the Ancient Languages and Mathematic; Miss Hattie Johnson, Pricipal of the Ladies' Department, and Miss Clara Toop, Teacher of Music, and of this lady we must say that this lady is an adept in her profession.

The entire exercises passed off pleasantly and we hope agreeably to all, and we hope the day is not far distant when Avery College will take rank among the first educational institutions of the land.

Correction.

Wednesday morning we published an account of a shooting affray at Brownsville, Fayette county, in which we stated that Ephraim Barr, proprietor of a hotel, shot Joe Jeffries, a steamboat mate, on the evening of the 4th of July, and that Jeffries had subsequently died from the effects of the wound.

We received our information from a gentleman from that locality, and so far as the shooting was concerned it was correct; but the man is not yet dead, and there are strong hopes of his recovery. Jeffries, who is said to be a dangerous man, left Uniontown Saturday morning, where it appears he had a difficulty with Mr. J. W. Brown, proprietor of the United States Hotel, the cause of which was that Brown refused to sell him whisky. He then hired a team and drove to Brownsville. In the evening he went to Barr's Hotel and asked for whisky. Mr. Barr, who we learn keeps a quiet and orderly house, knowing Jeffries to be a desperate man when drunk, refused to sell him liquor. Jeffries swore he would have it, or he would "smash" everything in the house. Mr. B. was standing behind the bar when he entered, and it appears did not come out until after the shooting. Jeffries went up to the bar and struck at Barr, who stepped back out of his reach. The ruffian then seized a glass, which was setting on the counter, and was about to throw it at Mr. Barr, when the latter picked up a revolver, which was lying behind the counter, and fired. The citizens of the place do not censure Mr. Barr, but think he was justifiable in doing what he did.

Pathology.

Medical science has made much headway during the past decade of years, and many of the most formidable diseases have been made succumb to the treatment of the knowing physician. Each day and week records some advancement made, some new cause for disease and agency for its prevention and cure. Pathology has taken its proud place and through the long and profound analysis of the Laboratory has come forth a science which has accomplished more good for humanity than any other we can recall. That the urinary method of detecting disease has superior advantages over all others has frequently been demonstrated by the best thinkers and reasoners in the medical profession, while the most learned and erudite of the world's chemists have added their testimony to the truth of the assertion. Here in our city we have medical men of the deepest reading and culture, who have spent years in this department of science, and who are surrounded on all sides by living witnesses to their skill in the curative art. By means of a scientific process they detect the immediate seat of disease as well as the cause, and hence with this knowledge their treatment must be efficacious. Such a physician is Dr. M'Kee, who we are pleased to see has located his office permanently in our midst at No. 174 Smithfield street. With long practice, close study and careful operation, he has made himself master of most diseases to which human flesh is heir. He treats all diseases of the lungs, throat, bowels and organs of hearing and sight in the most skillful manner, and there are hundreds in our city who bear willing testimony to his worth and ability as a physician.

Sunday School.—On Sunday, July 12th, at 9 o'clock A. M., at the Skating Rink, Allegheny, an Evangelical Sunday School will be organized. At the opening exercises several prominent speakers will be present, and old and young are invited to attend. The well known gentlemen at the head of the Rink Corporation have allowed the free use of the building for this purpose. The great size of this structure will allow the accommodation of an immense number of scholars, and it is the intention of those having it in charge to organize a permanent school to gather together from all quarters all who can be persuaded or attracted to come.

Articles for the Toliet.—Joseph Burnett & Co., the distinguished Chemists of Boston, are the manufacturers of several highly celebrated and excellent articles for the toilet, viz: Cocoaine for the hair, Kalliston for the skin, Florimel, an exquisite handkerchief perfume and Oriental Tooth Wash. Burnett & Co. are also the manufacturers of Extracts of fruits and flowers for flavoring jellies, preserves, &c. which have great celebrity for their purity and strength. They are very popular in this city.—Montreal Herald TTST

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS.

—The telegraph line to Santa Fe was completed and opened for business yesterday.

—Rev. Henry Ward Beecher is out denying that he favors Chase and compares Grant to Washington.

—At Fall River, Mass., on Thursday, Patrick Mansfield killed his wife by cutting her head open with a hatchet. He was arrested.

—Rev. Dr. O'Hara and Rev. Dr. Shannahan, Bishops elect at Scranton and Harrisburg, will be consecrated at the Cathedral in Philadelphia on Sunday next by Bishop Wood.

—At Geneva, New York, on Thursday night, while firing a salute in honor of the Democratic nominations, two men named Miller and Higgins were badly injured by the premature discharge of a cannon.

—A Convention in session at Burkesville, composed of farmers residing in Virginia and several North Carolina counties, adjourned after passing resolutions expressing their willingness to sell lands to purchasers from any section of the United States, and also recommending the formation of companies in each county to sell lands to foreigners.

—At Woonsocket, R. I., on Thursday, a thunder storm occurred attended by a remarkably severe fall of hail stone, doing much damage. One market gardener estimated his loss at $1,000. At Hamlet Mills all but thirty out of three hundred lights of glass in the roof were broken. The torrents of rain carried away one dam. The damage from hail was confined to a limited tract, perhaps three square miles.

—A strike among the coal miners has occurred at Pottsville, in consequence of an attempt to reduce the wages to correspond with the eight hour law. The miners demand the same pay as for ten hours work, which have been refused, and a mob of two hundred men are compelling workmen at the various collieries, railroads, and other workshops to quit work. No serious damage has been done yet. Gov. Geary is there, and says he will use force at once, if necessary.

—The forgeries of a fellow named Hoyt have just been brought to light in New York. He bought fifty shares of the Cleveland Railroad stock and fifty shares of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, which he had transferred on the books of the respective companies to Gelston & Bussing, and Robinson, Cox & Co., the parties through whom he purchased, certificates of five shares each. These certificates were altered with the use of chemicals, and changed to one hundred shares each. The Fort Wayne and Pittsburgh companies have each transferred three of these certificates, and this loss will fall upon them. This stock was sold through a broker by the name of White, and all the bogus certificates, it is said, have been traced to him. This man White, it is reported, disappeared a few days since and a notice was posted on his door announcing his death, which he probably wrote and put up himself.

There are many reasons why the best class of custom is drawn to Holtzheimer's first class dining rooms, Fifth street, next door to the Postoffice. The rooms are cool, clean and inviting, while hotel bills of fare are daily surpassed in the meals supplied regular and transient patrons.
